Police take into custody an accused in connection with the petrol bomb attack outside the RSS office in Ranchi on Thursday | ANI

Attack on RSS office: Accused shared videos with Pak contacts

In a significant development, the two accused persons arrested for allegedly hurling petrol bombs at the RSS office in Ranchi are found to have links with terrorist networks. Preliminary investigations revealed that the accused allegedly shared videos of the attack with contacts in Pakistan shortly after carrying it out. Investigators have further found indications that the duo may have been receiving instructions from handlers based in Pakistan and Dubai.

Byregowda sets eight-month deadline to asphalt all ward roads

Coordination among various agencies a must for Rs 2,000-cr repair job: Minister

Bengaluru Development Minister Krishna Byregowda and GBA Chief Commissioner Maheshwar Rao address a press conference in Bengaluru on Thursday | EXPRESS

EXPRESS NEWS SERVICE
@Bengaluru

BENGALURU Development Minister Krishna Byregowda has set an 8-month deadline to the Greater Bengaluru Authority (GBA) to complete the road development works under the Rs 2,000 crore grant announced by Chief Minister DK Shivakumar recently.

The minister said this after a meeting with the GBA Chief Commissioner here on Thursday. He asked the officials to identify roads that need repair, prepare the estimates, call tenders, and start the work within two months.

Addressing the media, Byregowda said, people in Bengaluru expect good roads. "The decision to fix ward roads is being taken following the announcement of Rs 2,000 crore for the asphalting of roads in the city by the CM. The fund announced is for the repair and asphalt of ward roads on priority. In some places, arterial and sub-arterial roads will also be accommodated," he said and added that the government has issued an order Thursday to identify the deteriorated ward roads in the jurisdiction of five City Corporations.

He also added that, from the identification of such roads to the preparation of an estimate for new asphalting and completion of the short-term tender process will have to be completed in two months' time, and work should be taken up and completed within six-months.

The minister clarified that the fixing of ward roads in six months and the tarring of roads will also depend on weather conditions, as asphalting will be taken during dry spells. "Keeping in mind the monsoon season, the necessary works will be carried out during the non-rainy period without compromising quality," said the minister.

He flayed civic agencies in Bengaluru for their lack of coordination resulting in bad condition of roads due to constant digging. "This is a trend since Ramakrishna Hegde's days, when I was a school boy. Agencies like KPTCL, GAIL, BESCOM and BWSSB will start digging within months after roads are repaired. There is a gap (in coordination). The asphalting work will be carried out in coordination with all the agencies concerned as per the Standard Operating Procedure (SOP). Strict action will be taken to ensure that no roads are dug up without prior permission," Byregowda said.

He said he would conduct site inspections during the road asphalting works. The officers have also been instructed to conduct regular inspections. "Improving the quality of the roads is our priority, and there will be no compromise on quality," said Byregowda.

GPS on garbage trucks must, else no payment: Minister

EXPRESS NEWS SERVICE @Bengaluru

TO tame the garbage mafia that has been taking the Bengaluru administration for a ride for years, Bengaluru Development Minister Krishna Byregowda has issued a stern warning to contractors that garbage collection vehicles without GPS installation will not be considered for payment. The minister said that installation of GPS is part of new tenders.

The minister's reaction comes in the backdrop of the issue of accountability on the part of contractors and engineers involved in waste management, and the city's image taking a beating due to mismanagement of garbage issue.

Addressing the media after a meeting with the Greater Bengaluru Authority (GBA) and Bengaluru Solid Waste Management Limited (BSWML) officials on Thursday, the minister said, "Despite the High Court direction, which has made GPS mandatory on garbage vehicles, it is not being followed currently."

He added that the government will not wait for the new waste management system to be rolled out and will instead focus on improving the existing garbage collection until the new system is in place, and instructed officials to ensure door-to-door waste collection to eliminate garbage black spots across the city.

The minister said, "Separate tenders have been floated for waste collection and waste segregation. There are a total of 33 garbage collection tender packages, six of which are in court. The remaining 27 are in the final stages of processing," he said and added, many existing vehicles are in poor condition, and there is a shortage of staff.

The minister also sought cooperation from residents and stated that 10% of the population continues to litter, 20% issue is with the corporation itself, and around 65% of citizens follow segregation rules. While stating that the public expects the garbage collection vehicle to come at a particular time, he said this is not always possible to keep lifting garbage 24 hours a day. "This problem can be solved only when both the civic body and citizens work together," the minister stated.

Min warns action against BSWML officials

Minister Krishna Byregowda said he would soon hit the streets and officials would be held accountable wherever waste collection was found to be irregular, and urged the public also to report on irregular waste collection. "In some areas of the city, the segregation of wet and dry waste has reached 65, 70 and 80 per cent, while in some other areas it is only 45 per cent. If unsegregated garbage is collected, action will be taken against the officials concerned, and fines will be imposed on the contractors," he said. The minister also stated that littering on the roadside not only harms the health of the public but also spoils the beauty of the city. "Garbage should be given to vehicles coming near houses. If the existing system is used effectively, a 50% improvement is possible." He said the problem of dumping garbage on roadside has increased in areas where vehicles do not go or reach on time. He said steps will be taken to stop this problem.

Lake transforms from sewage pit to hosting flora and fauna

EXPRESS NEWS SERVICE

The 25-acre Kithaganur lake has been completely desilted and demarcated | EXPRESS

THE 25-acre Kithaganur lake in East Bengaluru, which had long suffered from silt accumulation, sewage inflow, encroachments and blocked feeder channels, has now been rejuvenated, leading to a significant improvement in its ecological health and water-storage capacity.

The restoration has increased the lake's water-holding capacity by 22%, benefiting more than 24,000 residents in surrounding localities. The project involved scientific de-silting, strengthening and fencing of lake boundaries, clearing feeder channels, biodiversity enhancement measures and community engagement activities aimed at ensuring long-term conservation of the water body.

The lake, which had gradually lost much of its capacity due to years of neglect and urban pressure, now supports nearly 65 species of flora and fauna. Environmental experts associated with the project estimate that the restored ecosystem will contribute close to nine tonnes of carbon sequestration annually, while also improving groundwater recharge and local biodiversity.

The rejuvenated lake was formally handed over to the gram panchayat on June 5, coinciding with World Environment Day. Speaking at the event, Mahadevpura MLA Manjula Arvind Limbavali said lake restoration should be followed by sustained efforts to protect the ecosystem and prevent it from slipping back into a degraded state. She stressed the need for active participation from local authorities, waste management teams and residents in safeguarding the lake.

The restoration was undertaken under the Wake the Lake initiative, a programme focused on reviving Bengaluru's rapidly shrinking and polluted water bodies. The restoration was undertaken through a collaborative effort involving Daimler Truck Innovation Center India, United Way Bengaluru, local authorities and community stakeholders. Stakeholders involved in the project said the revival of Kithaganur Lake demonstrates how scientific restoration and community participation can help improve urban water security while restoring ecological balance in the city.

SMALL TRADERS CALL OFF PROTEST AFTER KHADER ASSURANCE

Bengaluru: The indefinite strike called by bakery, condiments, beeda shop owners and other small traders across Karnataka was called off on Thursday evening after an assurance from Karnataka Health and Family Welfare Minister UT Khader, that their grievances would be addressed within a week. The decision came after a massive protest at Freedom Park in Bengaluru, where around 20,000 traders and shop owners gathered to highlight what they described as harassment by officials from Greater Bengaluru Authority (GBA), Health department and police. The bandh saw widespread participation across Bengaluru, with traders claiming that nearly 90 per cent of over 58,000 bakeries, condiments stores, beeda shops and small retail shops in the city remained closed. The shutdown disrupted the availability of tea, coffee, milk, tobacco products and bakery items in several localities. ENS

Four teams to inspect garbage auto tippers in BNCC

Bengaluru: Following repeated public complaints, Bengaluru North City Corporation (BNCC) Commissioner Pommala Sunil Kumar constituted four teams to inspect auto merging points and conducted a surprise inspection of solid waste management systems on Thursday morning and found that many waste collection autos are being marked present despite being absent. The teams inspected auto merging points in Ward No 59, 49, 27 and 24. In Ward No 59, 24 autos tippers were marked as operational in the app, despite only 21 being present, while in Ward No 49, out of 25 autos, only 10 were found present. In Ward No 27, of the 35 autos, only 17 autos were present and in Ward No 24, only 18 autos of 31 autos were present. It was also observed that some autos did not have helper staff, and none of the workers were wearing safety gloves. Directions were issued to initiate action against officials concerned. ENS

Horoscopes By Holiday

HOLIDAY MATHIS

19th June : Delayed Dawn Juneteenth marks a delayed dawn, the day freedom finally reached those who had long been denied it. Today brings celebration and remembrance. Beneath the Virgo moon, we honor liberation not only in words and ceremonies, but in daily acts of care. Families gather. Music carries history forward. People honor the strength it took to keep living fully despite injustice.

ARIES (Mar 21 - Apr. 20)
As schoolchildren released for recess know, it's a pleasure to let off some uninhibited energy, especially when you've been cooped up in a highly structured environment. The cosmic school bell will ring for you today. Go claim your place on the playground.

TAURUS (Apr. 20 - May 20)
You deal with stress better when you can spot the absurdity in a situation instead of getting stuck in irritation. Humor helps you stay loose when life gets weird. When you can laugh at the chaos a little, the inconveniences bounce off you.

GEMINI (May 21 - June 21)
There are some enchanted logistics in play today. The practical parts of life begin cooperating with your dreams instead of obstructing them. It's not every day that schedules, money and timing align as well as this!

CANCER (June 22 - July 22)
Anyone can feel good around "yes" people, but it takes a very evolved person to seek out the "no" people and hear what they have to add. The critics make you better, stronger, sharper and more impervious to pain.

LEO (July 23 - Aug. 22)
Your understanding of love keeps changing. Sometimes affection is shown through gestures, touch and thoughtfulness. But often it's the practical, repetitive and sacrificial behaviors you enact for your loved one that indicate the deepest devotion.

VIRGO (Aug. 23 - Sept. 22)
The body, mind and spirit all work together. You think better when you eat better, and when your heart is filled with love, you feel like expressing yourself through movement. Anything you improve through joy will affect all parts of you.

LIBRA (Sept. 23 - Oct. 23)
You'll be accounting for tasks done and undone and reflecting on how it went down -- the hits and misses, the expectations and surprises, the soft impressions plus some hard numbers. Your realism here will ultimately be your success ticket.

SCORPIO (Oct. 24 - Nov. 21)
Have a little more faith. Even foolish faith will do. Today it's better to be naive than to be jaded. The energy of happiness attracts more joy. The energy of cynicism fulfills its own prophecy.

SAGITTARIUS (Nov. 22 - Dec. 21)
You constantly strive for a better understanding of the other person's perspective. Empathy is the strength that doesn't call attention to itself. Though relating to others is an act of kindness, it's also a strategy that helps with today's challenge.

CAPRICORN (Dec. 22 - Jan. 19)
If you don't make intentional choices about your priorities and limits, life makes them for you. It may work for a few hours or days, but eventually, attempting to handle too many different responsibilities at once becomes unsustainable.

AQUARIUS (Jan. 20 - Feb. 18)
You want to succeed at work, maintain relationships and pursue creative goals. You'll do it, just not all today. These feelings of overwhelm come from unnecessarily conflating the time frame. Avoid compressing too much into one imagined moment.

PISCES (Feb. 19 - Mar 20)
You'll think deeply and extend your insight into the past and future. Some call such vigilance "overthinking" because they can't relate. It's natural to assume that everyone is like you, but many aren't paying close attention, so you need to.

LATEST IMD DATA PUTS MONSOON RAIN DEFICIT AT WHOPPING 41%

With the southwest monsoon stalled over Maharashtra, India is facing a nationwide rainfall deficit of 41% between June 4-18, the IMD said

IMD'S REASONS FOR WEAK MONSOON SURGE

There are five main factors behind the slowdown in monsoon's northward progress. First, the current monsoon flow lacks a strong surge from the Arabian Sea, according to IMD. Second, low-level southwesterly winds associated with the monsoon circulation have weakened over the Arabian Sea. Third, the cross-equatorial flow over the western Indian Ocean

WEAK PHASE OF MADDEN-JULIAN OSCILLATION

- IMD said the fourth reason is cyclonic circulations over the Arabian Sea and Bay of Bengal, or an offshore trough along the west coast that facilitates monsoon advancement, are absent
- The last factor is the weak phase of the Madden-Julian Oscillation (MJO), a moving system of wind, cloud, and pressure that brings rain

Jolt to NDA: Cong wins five seats in surprise cross-vote

DEVARAJ B HIREHALLI @ Bengaluru

IN the biennial polls to elect seven MLCs from the Karnataka Legislative Assembly here on Thursday, the ruling Congress won five seats and the opposition BJP won two. The JDS, which fielded a lone candidate and was expecting the support of its alliance partner BJP, faced a humiliating defeat.

The victory comes as a morale-booster for the Congress government, and a shot in the arm for Chief Minister DK Shivakumar. The cross-voting jolted both the BJP and JDS. Eleven legislators, seven from the BJP and four from JDS, reportedly cross-voted to hand a massive victory to Vinay Karthik, Congress' fifth candidate.

The Congress polled 151 first preference votes. Candidates BK Hariprasad, also KPCC president, Thippannappa Kamakanoor and Shivanna BS secured 30 votes each, PV Mohan got 29 and Vinay Karthik pocketed 32 votes, and emerged winners. BJP's Raghu R Kautilya polled 29 and Lingaraj Patil got 27. Their term will be six years in the Upper House. JDS' lone candidate Inchara Govindaraju garnered only 14 votes to face defeat.

"I am surprised to see the MLAs' support for our government in the Legislative Council elections. This is not just support for our government. It is their support to us for the welfare of the people," claimed Chief Minister DK Shivakumar. "They have supported us non-partisanly, saying they are with us in whatever step we are taking and moving forward," he said. P4

India-UK free trade pact to kickstart on July 15; bid to energise economy on fast track

UK deal clears FTA rollout path

PUSHPITA DEY @ New Delhi

INDIA has secured additional concessions under the free trade agreement with the United Kingdom, resolving all outstanding issues that had delayed its implementation, setting the stage for its roll out on July 15. The gains include an extension of the social security contribution exemption for Indian professionals working temporarily in the UK from three years to five years and a resolution of concerns over Britain's proposed steel safeguard measures. The Ministry of Commerce on Thursday said around 85% of India's steel exports have been kept outside the UK's new import restrictions. "The key issue which was holding us back was the new steel measures. Around 85% of our exports to the UK are outside the steel measures," an official said.

The UK had announced a 60% reduction in tariff-free steel import quotas from June and imposed a 50% duty on shipments exceeding those quotas to protect its domestic steel industry. In its pushback, India had warned that it could revisit the concessions under the FTA if the issue remained unresolved.

Since nearly 85% of India's steel exports to the UK fall outside the product categories covered by the British safeguard regime, it will ensure continued market access through a combination of country-specific quotas, residual quotas and an authorised-use mechanism. Of India's nearly $900 million steel exports to the UK, only about $137 million will now be subject to the new safeguard measures.

Sources said both countries spent the last two months negotiating the outstanding issues. Under the revised agreement, Indian professionals employed by Indian companies in the UK, as well as employees transferred to subsidiaries or affiliated entities, will be exempt from making social security contributions in the UK for up to five years, provided they continue contributing to India's social security system and obtain a Certificate of Coverage (CoC). Earlier, the exemption was limited to three years. As for the UK's proposed Carbon Border Adjustment Mechanism (CBAM), discussions will continue separately.

PM Modi call to democratise tech

JAYANTH JACOB @ New Delhi

PRIME Minister Narendra Modi on Thursday positioned India as a global hub for inclusive technology and innovation, telling business leaders and entrepreneurs at the VivaTech Summit 2026 in Paris that technology can drive progress only when it is accessible to everyone. He also met top French CEOs to discuss fresh investments and expansion plans across sectors including artificial intelligence, shipping, logistics, railways and construction.

Speaking at VivaTech, Europe's largest technology and startup event, where India is the Country Partner and has set up the largest national pavilion, Modi highlighted India's technology-led transformation over the past decade and presented a vision of AI that prioritises inclusion and broad-based growth. "When it comes to technology, along with innovation, what matters is access. Technology can lead to progress only when it is democratised. India believes that in this era of disruption, technology must deliver for all," Modi said.

His comments assume significance amid growing global debates over access to advanced AI technologies and recent restrictions by the United States on the use of certain cutting-edge AI models by foreign nationals. Using a phrase that drew applause from the audience, Modi said: "For India, AI means 'All Inclusive'." He said artificial intelligence should be leveraged to improve lives, expand access to services, accelerate economic growth and support sustainability goals.

According to the Ministry of External Affairs (MEA), the PM's discussions focused on strengthening collaboration across shipping, logistics, railways, construction and AI. Prominent among the key meetings was the one with Rodolphe Saade, Chairman and CEO of CMA CGM, where discussions centred on maritime shipping, logistics and global supply chains.

Saadé said: "I believe India has a major role to play in the supply chains of the world. The fact that we are now in a position to build container ships in India is definitely a good step forward. The future of India is happening now."

Uddhav Sena on the verge of a split, again

PREETHA NAIR @ New Delhi

AS the Shiv Sena (UBT) appears to be headed for a second major split, six of its nine Lok Sabha MPs skipped the parliamentary party meeting on Thursday, signalling that a formal crossover to the ruling Shiv Sena led by Maharashtra Deputy Chief Minister Eknath Shinde is imminent.

The MPs who skipped the meeting are Nagesh Aashtikar, Sanjay Deshmukh, Sanjay Jadhav, Sanjay Dina Patil, Omprakash Rajenimbalkar, and Bhausaheb Wakchaure. The party issued a show cause notice to them to explain their absence within seven days.

Arvind Sawant, Anil Desai and Rajabhau Waje attended the meeting, along with Sanjay Raut, the party's lone Rajya Sabha MP.

Raut said the MPs' no-show will be considered a violation of the party whip and legal action will be initiated to disqualify them as lawmakers. He also claimed the rebel MPs had been given an additional ₹10 crore, over and above the ₹15 crore paid earlier, and moved to a safe location in Rajasthan.

Traffic violators jump rebate schemes

RAKSHITH GOWDA @Bengaluru

MORE than 83,000 people have died in road accidents in Karnataka over the last eight years, while thousands of traffic violations are reported across the state every day. Despite announcing five rebate schemes, the police department continues to grapple with over five crore pending e-challan traffic violation cases, with motorists owing a whopping Rs 2,727.38 crore in unpaid fines.

A serving senior IPS officer slammed the move stating that it was rewarding violators by offering discounts multiple times, whereas the thinking should be on imposing additional penalties on offenders for delaying payment of fines, in the interest of road safety. The state government has announced a 50 per cent concession on pending traffic fines five times in recent years—three times in 2023 and twice in 2025. The sixth rebate scheme is scheduled to be implemented from June 21 to July 10.

According to data available with TNIE, between 2019 and April 2026, the Karnataka State Police, across six police commissionerates and nine districts, booked 7,46,56,150 traffic violations through the e-challan system and imposed fines amounting to Rs 3,605.93 crore. Of this, Rs 878.55 crore has been collected. However, the fine amount 5,05,74,348 traffic violation cases remain unpaid, with authorities yet to recover Rs 2,727.38 crore.

Bengaluru city tops the list with 3,37,79,608 lakh pending traffic violation cases and Rs 1,843 crore in pending fines, followed by Mysuru city and Belagavi city. P5

HC's poser on proportionality of Telegram ban

UDAYAN KISHORE @ New Delhi

SOCIAL media App Telegram was banned "temporarily" to prevent misleading crores of students so that they do not come on the streets, the Centre told the Delhi High Court on Thursday claiming that the app was the most preferred platform for terror activities.

The Centre made the submission after Justice Tejas Karia questioned how can the rights of 150 million people just be stopped because one set of citizen are appearing in examinations. "The question is can you block somebody else's rights to protect someone else's rights," the judge asked.

Application of mind

Telegram, through senior advocate Dhruv Mehta, questioned the logic behind the ban. "NEET will affect the sovereignty and integrity of India? What is the application of mind? On WhatsApp people are marketing," Telegram's counsel said.

The judge reserved verdict on Telegram's plea challenging the government order banning the platform till June 22 in view of the NEET re-exam.

Attorney General R Venkataramani, appearing for the Centre, said Telegram, because of its architecture, was a "Frankenstein". "If a country like ours cannot take preventive action, where do we go?" Solicitor General Tushar Mehta, for the government, said Telegram operates through cloud, "even if we block something and someone does a mischief, law enforcement agency can't reach the person... This is the most preferred platform for terrorist activities," the SG submitted.

To this, the bench asked, "How can we stop rights of 150 million people?" The law has been laid down in the Anuradha Bhasin judgment of the SC, the bench said.

The Centre's counsel said the Supreme Court judgment in Bhasin does not prohibit blocking in any sense.

Did not hatch any plot, says DKS

EXPRESS NEWS SERVICE @ Bengaluru

CHIEF Minister DK Shivakumar on Thursday dismissed allegations of cross voting in the election to the Legislative Council and maintained that he did not hatch any plot to ensure the victory of Congress candidates, except providing training to the party MLAs in a resort to ensure that not a single vote is rejected. "This is a secret ballot. I am not aware of the happenings in other parties," he told reporters here. On the alleged horse-trading prior to polling, Shivakumar said, "I have no information about this. I don't know who voted for our candidates. It was a secret ballot. Who knows who cross voted. They voted confidentially. I did not approach MLAs from other parties for votes."

Defending BJP's expelled MLAs ST Somashekar and Shivaram Hebbar for backing his party, the CM said, "BJP expelled them and we took advantage of it. We just showed them the right way." Shivakumar was visibly upbeat over the victory of Congress candidates, especially that of the party's fifth candidate, Vinay Karthik. After addressing reporters, he left for Tirupati to fulfill his vows. This is his first electoral success after becoming CM.

AICC General Secretary Randeep Singh Surjewala termed the Congress victory a mandate for its "good governance" in the state. Legislators of Karnataka have approved the stellar and outstanding work of the ruling Congress in the past three years. Ignoring their party affiliation, they gave their approval for the Congress' guarantee and other schemes through this election, he said.

Betrayers will be caught, warns Ashoka

EXPRESS NEWS SERVICE @ Bengaluru

THE Opposition BJP, which managed to win two of seven Council seats in Thursday's elections, was rattled by cross-voting by its MLAs. While party leaders admitted that three of its legislators cross-voted, it is not clear if four BJP MLAs assigned to vote for NDA alliance partner JDS followed the party's directions.

Raghu Kautilya and Lingaraj Patil were declared elected to the Council, securing 29 and 27 votes respectively. JDS candidate Govindaraju received just 14 votes. The BJP has allotted 30 votes each to its two candidates, and four votes to the JDS. However, the JDS, which has 18 MLAs, got just 14 votes.

Leader of Opposition in the Assembly R Ashoka said they would soon know the details of the three party MLAs who cross-voted, and the party would take action in that regard.

After the results were announced, he told the media that they had assigned 30 votes each to two of its candidates, Patil and Kautilya. While one vote assigned to Kautilya was invalid, three MLAs who were asked to vote for Patil cross-voted. He said the BJP had allotted four votes to the JDS candidate.

"Those who have betrayed the party will be caught," he said. Apart from allotting four votes, the BJP had also asked its MLAs to give their second preference votes to the JDS, he said. Ashoka said they are discussing the issue of cross-voting in the party forum.

BJP State President BY Vijayendra said once they get more information about who cross-voted and why, they would discuss the future course of action.

Yatnal votes for BJP

Expelled BJP MLA Basanagouda Yatnal said he was elected MLA on the BJP symbol, and as long as he continues to be an MLA on the party symbol, it is his moral obligation to vote as per the party high command's directions. Several BJP leaders, including MLAs, had called him over phone and requested him to vote for the party candidate.

DKS tastes first poll success as CM; Cong gains upper hand in Council

BANSY KALAPPA @ Bengaluru

KARNATAKA Chief Minister DK Shivakumar has once again proved to be the political fuel propelling the Congress forward, as the party delivered a commanding performance in the biennial elections to the Karnataka Legislative Council, clinching five of the seven seats through masterful strategy and cross-voting support.

With all 222 electors casting their votes, the results have reinforced Congress' dominance in the Upper House of the Karnataka legislature.

In a 224-member Assembly impacted by the imprisonment of MLA Vinay Kulkarni and the demise of MLA K Sudhakar, the Congress not only held its ground but expanded its influence significantly. Counting of votes concluded with the Congress securing five seats, while JDS candidate Inchara Govindraj emerged as the lone loser, polling just 14 votes.

The JDS camp was left in the lurch as its hopes of winning even one seat were dashed despite alliance support from the BJP.

Former JDS minister Bandeppa Kashempur told The New Indian Express, "We started out with 18 seats and win or lose it does not matter, but the party is like a mother and we put a candidate to ensure we vote for our candidate. It was obvious from the word go that we did not have votes."

Congress leaders have openly credited the victory to Chief Minister DK Shivakumar's sharp political acumen. It was at his insistence that the party fielded a fifth candidate, turning what could have been a modest showing into a decisive sweep.

Chief Minister DK Shivakumar casts his vote in the Council polls in Vidhana Soudha on Thursday | EXPRESS

The Congress leveraged crucial support from expelled BJP MLAs and independents, with reports indicating that at least six-seven BJP and four JDS MLAs cross-voted in favour of the ruling party.

Two unattached members expelled from the BJP - S T Somashekar and Shivaram Hebbar - publicly declared they voted according to their conscience, effectively backing Congress.

Independent candidates Latha Mallikarjun and Darshan Puttanaiah also extended support, bolstering the Congress' strength to 135 votes.

Both Somashekar and Hebbar were previously in the Congress and had defected to the BJP.

The mood in the Congress camp was electric, with celebrations breaking out at Wonderla on Wednesday night itself. Leaders and workers were seen rejoicing even before the official confirmation of the fifth seat, sensing the momentum Shivakumar had engineered.

With these five fresh wins, the Congress has secured a clear majority in the Legislative Council, paving the way for the election of its own Chairman. This also means BJP's Basavraj Horatti will have to step down from the post.

The JDS, which had appealed to MLAs across parties to cast a "vote of conscience," faced yet another setback reminiscent of its earlier Rajya Sabha disappointment with nominee Kupendra Reddy who also lost. Inchara Govindraj turned out to be the scape goat for the party.

BJP MLA and LoP in Assembly R Ashoka said the party will find out who cross voted.

"Cross voting is not good, we will find out who cross-voted. No one can escape. We nominated Inchara Govindraj as NDA candidate. What the Congress has done to draw votes from the JDS and BJP to its candidates is not correct especially when they are protesting against such cross voting in other areas by Congress cadres," Kashmepur added.

The outcome highlights the fluid loyalties and strategic edge DK Shivakumar brings to Congress' campaign machinery.

As the Congress strengthens its hold on the Upper House in Karnataka, the results signal a challenging period ahead for the BJP-JDS alliance in the state.

How the math worked in favour of GOP to win 5th seat

"OUR party's MLAs have also supported us unitedly. We will maintain the trust of different parties that have given us the most votes. We will continue to serve you, knowing your feelings," CM DK Shivakumar said. Eight candidates were in the fray for seven seats. All 222 legislators exercised their franchise, of which one vote turned invalid, following which the winning quota for each candidate was fixed at 27.63.

The Congress, with 135 MLAs, had the backing of three Independents— Darshan Puttannaiah, Puttaswamy Gowda and Latha Mallikarjun— and two expelled BJP MLAs ST Somashekar and Shivaram Hebbar, taking its tally to 140. It allotted 30 votes to each of its four candidates, and the remaining 20 to its fifth candidate Vinay Karthik. Cross-voting by BJP and JDS MLAs threw a surprise as Vinay was able to garner the highest first preferential votes among all seven candidates.

The BJP, which has 63 MLAs, including Gangavathi MLA Gali Janardhana Reddy who merged his party with the BJP, too had fixed 30 votes each for its candidates, with a plan to shift surplus votes to the JDS candidate. But that did not happen as its winning candidates together polled 56 votes, which means the remaining seven votes appear to have gone in favour of Vinay. Though the JDS has 18 MLAs, its candidate could poll only 14 and the remaining went in favour of Vinay, according to sources. Since it was a secret ballot, it cannot be ascertained as to who cross-voted and whose lone vote turned invalid.

Former CM Siddaramaiah and MLA Basanagouda Patil Yatnal cast their vote

Returning Officer (RO) and assembly secretary MK Vishalakshi declared the results.

Meanwhile, another expelled BJP MLA, Basanagouda Patil Yatnal, had reportedly written to BJP national president Nitin Nabin saying he would be voting for Lingaraj Patil. Congress leader VS Ugrappa lodged a complaint seeking Yatnal's vote be termed invalid, but the RO turned it down since he (Yatnal) did not reveal it at the polling centre.

Earlier in the morning, Congress MLAs who had been sequestered in a resort, arrived at Vidhana Soudha in buses in a show of unity, and exercised their franchise. Former CM Siddaramaiah and other senior leaders also cast their votes. DCM Dr Parameshwara, who was unwell, cast his vote in the afternoon. The JDS and BJP leadership also held meetings ahead of the polling.

CONG LIKELY TO REPLACE HORATTI AS COUNCIL CHAIR

Having won five MLC seats of seven which went for polls, the ruling Congress party achieved a majority in the Karnataka Legislative Council. The Congress clinched an extra seat at the cost of BJP's seat in Thursday's polls. Now, in the 75-member Upper House, the Congress has 39, BJP 29 and JDS 6, and one independent in Lakhan Jarkiholi, who owes allegiance to the Congress. "You (media) know our strength in the Council now," Chief Minister DK Shivakumar stated, addressing the press conference with the five victorious candidates, at Vidhana Soudha on Thursday. Which means the ruling Congress is likely to replace incumbent Council chairman Basavaraj Horatti of the NDA with its own MLC, which could happen in the forthcoming monsoon session of joint legislature, likely to be held in July. The grand old party is likely to consolidate its position further, as on July 21, five MLCs nominated by the governor, including Ramesh Babu of the Congress, Adagur H Vishwanath, Shantaram Siddi, Bharathi Shetty and Talwar Sabanna of the BJP are retiring. Then, all five seats will come into the grip of the ruling Congress.

Ready for talks with TN on Mekedatu, says CM

EXPRESS NEWS SERVICE @ Bengaluru

CHIEF Minister DK Shivakumar has said that Karnataka is ready to hold talks with Tamil Nadu on the Mekedatu balancing reservoir project at any time. Speaking to reporters, the CM said people of both states are Indians and should not be divided over the issue.

Shivakumar's statement comes on a day when Tamil Nadu Governor RV Arlekar's address to the state assembly called for halting Karnataka's attempt to build the Mekedatu dam across the Cauvery river.

Shivakumar said that a balancing reservoir would help ensure water supply to Tamil Nadu during times of distress and would benefit both the states.

The CM said that the project is meant solely to meet Bengaluru's drinking water needs, and not for irrigation. "Not even a single bucket of water will be used for irrigation," he reiterated. Shivakumar said a dam in Mekedatu across the Cauvery would also protect the interests of Tamil Nadu farmers through balanced water management. Mekedatu is a project that will help Tamil Nadu more than Karnataka, he said, adding that the project is the heart of South India and will benefit both the states.

"We are ready to release 177 tmct of water to Tamil Nadu based on the Supreme Court directive. The court has said that the decision on the Mekedatu project should be made by the Central Water Commission," the CM added.

Further, Shivakumar said that Tamil Nadu politics has revolved around the Cauvery water sharing dispute for the past 40 to 50 years. "Over the last one year, almost 400 tmcft of water has emptied into the sea. Tamil Nadu is constructing reservoirs within its territory, and we have not objected to it. We are not seeking any financial aid. This project will also help us to generate 400 MW power," Shivakumar said.

SIR exercise to kick off in K'taka from tomorrow

BOSKY KHANNA @Bengaluru

THE stage is set for the Special Intensive Revision (SIR) of electoral rolls in Karnataka that will commence on June 20 (Saturday). The Office of the Chief Electoral Officer (CEO), Karnataka, will start printing enumeration forms from Saturday, and it will take nine days to reach the Booth Level Officers (BLOs), who will start visiting the houses of voters from June 30 with the forms.

On May 14 this year, the Election Commission of India (ECI) announced phase three of the SIR exercise in 20 states and Union Territories from June 20. It may be recalled that the upcoming exercise is the ninth such revision in Karnataka, with the last one conducted in 2002, when there were around 3 crore voters in the state.

CEO Karnataka V Anbukkumar said that printing of over 11 crore enumeration forms will start from June 20. There are 5,55,74,064 voters in Karnataka. Each eligible voter will be given two custom-made partially pre-printed forms. The voters will have to fill both the forms— one must be handed over to the BLOs. The second, attested by the BLO, will be retained by the voter.

"People's involvement will start from June 30. Citizens are requested to actively participate in the SIR exercise by keeping the required documents ready, along with their latest passport-size photograph. They must sign the enumeration form and hand it over to the BLOs," he added.

According to data, 91.5% of Karnataka's electoral population has been mapped till June 18, 2026. Also, 75% of the population in Greater Bengaluru Authority limits has been mapped. The mapping exercise will continue till the draft electoral rolls are published—August 5. As per procedure, it will take nine days to print the enumeration forms, transport them to the EROs and then to the BLOs before handing them to people at their doorstep.

Over one lakh staffers and officials are being involved in Karnataka for the SIR exercise, which will end on October 7, with the publishing of the final electoral rolls. There are 59,050 BLOs and 6,000 BLO supervisors.

When the SIR exercise in Karnataka was announced on May 14, there were 25,284 BLAs (representatives of registered political parties). As on June 18, 2026, it has increased to 72,058. Of this, the Congress has deployed 37,026 BLAs, BJP 32,009, and JDS 3,023. For the SIR exercise, election officials are using the 2002 and 2025 electoral rolls. It may be noted that during SIR, the special summary revision exercise will be temporarily stopped. The BLOs, however, will carry Form 6 for enrolling new voters. Election officials are also setting up camps in all assembly constituencies to provide assistance to electors. The exercise of online submission of SIR forms will also start from the end of June.

Pertaining to the safety of the forms and opposition from politicians and citizens' representative groups, Anbukkumar said that he had not received any representations at his table so far. He added that there is no need to provide additional security to the forms as everything was being done in a transparent manner.

PROTECT VOTING RIGHTS OF CITIZENS: DKS TO CONG WORKERS

CM DK Shivakumar urged Congress workers to protect the voting rights of citizens during SIR of electoral rolls and ensure eligible voters submit the required documents to retain their names in the voter list. Shivakumar was addressing Congress workers on Thursday. He said that the revision process was both a challenge and an opportunity. He urged Congress workers to go door-to-door to help people complete the verification process. On government's stand on the guarantee schemes, the CM said that the state had no intention of withdrawing the programmes, but were just taking steps to ensure that the benefits reach genuine beneficiaries and residents of Karnataka. "The government will verify beneficiaries of welfare schemes and voter records to prevent misuse," he said. Shivakumar also informed Congress workers that the government's welfare initiatives, including free bus passes for students and the proposed Bharat Jodo Youth Associations at the panchayat level, would receive annual grants for sports, cultural and youth activities.

MYSURU EMERGES AS GANJA TRANSIT HUB

Most supply originates from cannabis cultivation belts along Odisha-Andhra border

KARTHIK K K @ Mysuru

THE seizure of nearly 280 kg of ganja by the Mysuru City Police last week, followed by the recovery of another 110 kg in neighbouring Mandya district on Wednesday, has once again exposed a growing narcotics corridor linking the cannabis-producing regions of Odisha and Andhra Pradesh with southern Karnataka.

Investigating officers told TNIE that these are not isolated incidents but part of a well-established supply chain that has been operating for years. Large quantities of ganja cultivated in remote forest belts along the Odisha-Andhra border are finding their way into the Mysuru region through a network of transporters, middlemen and local distributors, turning the area into a major transit point for the illegal trade across South India.

Police officials with the 110kg of ganja seized in Mandya district | EXPRESS

Police sources said traffickers are increasingly using the highway network to move consignments from eastern India. Vehicles carrying ganja often enter Karnataka through Andhra Pradesh before reaching Mysuru, Mandya, Chamarajanagar and neighbouring districts. From there, the narcotic is either sold locally or transported further to Bengaluru, Kerala and parts of Tamil Nadu.

What concerns investigators is the frequency with which large consignments are being intercepted. Despite repeated seizures running into hundreds of kilograms over the past few years, the flow of ganja from Odisha and Andhra Pradesh has shown little sign of slowing. The profits involved are enormous, with consignments purchased at relatively low prices near cultivation zones fetching several times their value in urban markets.

Officials believe Mysuru's strategic location has made it an attractive base for drug syndicates. The district is well connected and serves as a gateway to Kerala and southern Karnataka. Traffickers often use tourist vehicles, private cars, goods carriers and even public transport to evade detection, concealing the narcotic among other goods and agricultural produce.

2 workers feared dead in STP tank mishap

EXPRESS NEWS SERVICE @ Bengaluru

TWO outsourced workers of the Bangalore Water Supply and Sewerage Board (BWSSB) were feared dead after they fell into a sewage treatment plant (STP) tank at Belagere under the Varthur police station limits on Thursday evening.

The missing workers have been identified as Akilan (30), a native of Bihar, and Akhilesh (30), a native of Tamil Nadu.

The incident occurred around 6.10 pm when three workers were carrying out maintenance work near a tank at the treatment facility. They reportedly lost their balance and fell into the tank. One of the workers, Karthik (25) from Tamil Nadu, was rescued by colleagues at the site. Personnel from the Fire and Emergency Services Department launched a search and rescue operation soon after the incident. However, due to the high volume of water in the tank and poor visibility, the operation could not be completed on Thursday night.Deputy Commissioner of Police (Electronic City) Narayana M visited the spot during his night rounds and inspected the rescue operation.

'Rebate schemes reduce fear of fines and may encourage violations'

AMONG the districts, Mysuru, Bengaluru South (earlier Ramanagara) and Mandya reported the highest number of pending traffic violation cases. A senior officer of the Karnataka State Legal Services Authority said the authority would recommend the concession to the state government, which will take the final decision on the proposal.

Repeated traffic fine rebates reward violators

According to the data, from 2019 to May 2026, as many as 83,750 people have died in road accidents in the state. Meanwhile, an average of 30,000 traffic violations are reported every day in Bengaluru.

A senior traffic police officer told TNIE that instead of imposing penalties on offenders for delaying payment of fines, the government is repeatedly offering discounts. "Road safety remains a serious concern in the state, with multiple fatal accidents and lakhs of traffic violations reported every day. Road safety begins with following traffic rules. Fines are imposed to deter offenders from repeating violations and to encourage responsible road behaviour," the officer said.

Mobility expert and Convener of the Sustainable Transportation Lab at IISc, Ashish Verma, said that the rebate scheme is an anti-poor measure. "Instead of educating people to obey traffic rules, the government is offering rebates. If people do not violate traffic rules, they do not have to pay fines. Such rebate schemes reduce the fear of penalties and may encourage violations," Verma said.

TOP THREE DISTRICTS WITH HIGHEST PENDING FINES

District	Pending traffic violations	Pending fine amount
Mysuru	36,68,248	Rs 1,83,78,37,000
Bengaluru South	7,33,504	Rs 50,79,35,000
Mandya	5,66,799	Rs 44,43,09,500

BTP to sets up 12 counters to collect traffic fines

BENGALURU: Twelve special counters will be set up by Bangalore Traffic Police to make use of the 50 per cent concession on traffic e-challan fines. This concession scheme will be in force from June 21, 2026, to July 10, 2026. During this period, individuals with outstanding traffic violation cases may settle them by paying 50 per cent of the prescribed fine amount.

The special counters will be set up at:

- Hennur Junction, Ring Road
- Devasandra Junction, Old Madras Road
- Kundalahalli Junction, Old Airport Road
- Mysuru Bank Junction, KG Road
- Summanahalli Junction, Magadi Road
- Metro (BHEL), Mysuru Road
- Near RTO office, 12th Main Road
- Jalahalli Cross Junction, Tumakuru Road
- Hebbal Junction, Ballari Road
- Sagar Junction, KG Road
- Hosa Road Junction, Electronics City Road
- Gottigere Junction, Bannerghatta Road

Payment can be made through the Karnataka State Police (KSP) app, BTP ASTraM app, nearest traffic police station, Traffic Management Centre, and Karnataka One website and centres.

28 case files go missing from Anekal court, theft case filed

PRAVEEN KUMAR @Bengaluru

AROUND 28 case files have reportedly gone missing from a court complex in Anekal on the outskirts of Bengaluru, prompting the registration of a theft case and an official investigation.

M Maruswamy, 45, a judicial officer working at the Court of the Principal Civil Judge and Judicial Magistrate First Class (JMFC), Anekal Town, lodged a complaint at the Anekal police station on Monday.

According to the complaint, the missing records include 11 files from the Court of the Principal Civil Judge and JMFC, five files from the Court of the III Additional Civil Judge and JMFC, and 12 files from the Court of the IV Additional Civil Judge and JMFC.

Despite repeated searches by court staff, the files could not be traced. The complainant has sought legal action against those responsible for maintaining the records. Based on the complaint, police have registered a case of theft and launched an investigation.

"Except for court staff, police personnel and advocates, entry to the sections where such documents are kept is strictly prohibited. Access to record rooms is restricted to authorised judicial staff. Members of the public are allowed only inside court halls during hearings. Even prisoners brought to court are permitted entry only during trial proceedings," a police officer said.

The missing records pertain to criminal cases, Private Complaint Register (PCR) cases and civil disputes.

"It is a tedious process and will take time to identify those responsible. We are also verifying whether the files were misplaced during cleaning or other administrative work. Judicial staff in charge of the sections concerned will be questioned after obtaining the necessary permissions from the judicial authorities. Advocates and litigants connected to the cases may also be examined," the officer added.

DHARMASTHALA CASE

SIT conducts DNA matching of 17 missing persons

DIVYA CUTINHO @ Mangaluru

THE Special Investigation Team (SIT) probing the alleged mass burials in Dharmasthala in Dakshina Kannada has gathered information on families of 17 missing persons. Also, the process of matching their DNA to the human remains recovered in the Banglegudde reserve forest is underway.

SIT had recovered seven human skulls and other remains in 2025 during combing of the Banglegudde area from where a human skull was earlier taken and produced to the court by the complainant — a former sanitation worker who had claimed burying several bodies of victims of rape and murder.

After the recovery of the human remains, it was handed over to the police and cases of Unnatural Death Report were registered at Dharmasthala police station. The human remains were later handed over to the Bengaluru FSL for further analysis. According to forensic experts, all human remains belong to male individuals.

SIT has since been gathering details of missing persons registered with the State Crime Records Bureau, District Crime Records Bureau and various police stations in Karnataka, neighbouring Kerala and Telangana, and other states, especially of those who went missing in Dharmasthala. Also, a few persons met the SIT saying that their family members went missing in Dharmasthala.

Of the seven human remains recovered, SIT has reportedly gathered information of two missing persons. One of them has reportedly been identified as 70-year-old UB Ayyappa of T Shettigeri village, Ponnampet taluk, Kodagu district, who had reportedly gone missing seven years ago, as his identity card was found at the site along with the skeletons. The second person has been reportedly identified as Adishesha Narayana of Gubbi, Tumakuru district, who allegedly went missing in 2013. His driving licence was recovered at Banglegudde by SIT.

An officer part of the SIT told The New Indian Express that they have collected blood samples of kin of eight missing persons already and they will match the DNA with human remains recovered at Banglegudde reserve forest. "We have gathered details of the relatives of nine more missing persons whose blood samples will be collected for DNA analysis," the officer said.

Students protest against worms in food at hostel

EXPRESS NEWS SERVICE
@ Belagavi

STUDENTS of the Post-Matric Boys' hostel in Sangameshwar Nagar, Belagavi, staged a protest on Wednesday night, alleging severe mismanagement, including worm-infested food, lack of drinking water and poor sanitation facilities.

The students also accused the hostel warden of negligence, alleging that he visits the facility only occasionally. Their anger peaked when worms were found in meals served on Thursday. In protest, the students placed cooking vessels outside the hostel premises and demanded immediate visit of officials from the social welfare department.

Officers from the APMC police station visited the hostel and persuaded the students to withdraw their agitation. The officers assured them that a meeting with higher authorities would be convened to resolve the issues and prevent such incidents in the future. An ambulance was also kept on standby on the premises amid concerns that contaminated food could affect the students' health.

POCSO case against seer: Court adjourns verdict date

EXPRESS NEWS SERVICE
@ Davanagere

WITH the High Court of Karnataka fixing June 23 as the date of hearing on appeal to cancel the anticipatory bail given to the POCSO-accused Vachanananda Swamy of the Panchamasali Gurupeet Harihar, the district court has adjourned the date of its verdict to June 30. According to the original schedule, the date of verdict was June 18 on the application of the Harihar Rural Police requesting the district court to cancel the anticipatory bail given to Vachanananda Swamy. The hearing was held on June 11.

Vachanananda Swamy's advocate SV Patil said, "The court had granted bail to Vachanananda Swamy on May 2. The investigating officer and the government prosecutor had filed an application in the High Court on June 6 to cancel this bail. Since the hearing is pending in the High Court, it has been postponed to June 30, saying that it is not appropriate to give any order from the Special POCSO Court. The High Court has asked Vachanananda Swamy to appear before it on June 23. The POCSO incident is a hatched conspiracy to expel Swamy from the math."

The High Court, which on Wednesday heard the application filed by the mother of the POCSO victim, expressed shock on anticipatory bail being given to the accused.

Rare Sun god idol with 3 faces spotted at Betageri

RAGHOTTAM KOPPAR @ Gadag

A historical Surya (Sun) idol dating back to the 12th century with three faces was spotted at Betageri of Gadag district. Earlier, the residents of Gargipet in Betageri thought that the idol was of Lord Brahma and worshipped it. Recently, a team of researchers who were studying about Brahma and Surya statues, visited Betageri and found that this is a rare idol of the Sun god with three heads depicting the morning, noon and evening faces.

This sculpture is made of black mixed blue stone. The Sun god is depicted in a standing position, has four hands and holds a lotus bud. A tall crown is carved on the head. There are garlands on the neck, bhujakirti (shoulder ornaments) and signs of girdle are visible on the waist. The researchers said that the depiction of the Sun god with three faces represents the principle of Martanda Bhairava or Surya-Narayana (the union of Sun, Brahma, Vishnu and Shiva) in Indian iconography.

Bheem Benahal, a researcher from Betageri, said, "It is interesting to know that there is a rare Surya idol near our house. More research should be carried out to learn about our history and the information should be passed to the coming generations."

Dr Shwetha Bhasme, a history researcher from Betageri said, "The Puranas describe the morning sun as Brahma, the afternoon sun as Maheshwara (Shiva) and the evening sun as Vishnu. These three faces represent the union of these three powers. It is also a symbol of the past, present and future. Traditionally, these are likely to be Sun god's consorts Usha and Pratyusha. A simple semicircular halo frame is also carved on the back of the idol. There is also a protruding hinge at the base of the sculpture."

GUV SPELLS OUT TVK GOVT AGENDA: FUND FIGHT, SOCIAL JUSTICE SURVEY

Vijay led government promises to form 'special legal committee' to fight for funds due from Union Government to the state

T MURUGANANDHAM @Chennai

THE TVK government in Tamil Nadu led by Chief Minister C Joseph Vijay on Thursday, through the customary address of Governor Rajendra Arlekar, outlined an ambitious governance agenda that mirrored the position of former Dravidian governments on education and economic sovereignty, while committing itself to transparent administration, economic revival, and eradication of corruption.

The new government also promised to conduct a "social justice survey" soon after the Census and form a "special legal committee" to fight for the funds due from the Union Government. Reforms in education, industry, law and order, environment, tourism, temple administration, and poverty alleviation were the other focal areas of the address.

After three years, the governor's customary address was smooth, starting with the 'Thamizhthai Vaazhthu', followed by the National Anthem. The governor hailed the rendition of the National Anthem at both the beginning and end of the Assembly session as the dawn of a new era. The Vijay government, through the governor's address, conveyed its strong opposition to the National Education Policy 2020, particularly the three-language formula, while promising to introduce structural reforms aimed at providing world-class education. It termed as unacceptable the centre's position that the release of ₹3,458 crore due to TN under the Samagra Shiksha Abhiyan was contingent upon the implementation of the three-language policy.

Ebola scare: Kerala woman from S Sudan hospitalised

EXPRESS NEWS SERVICE
@Kottayam

A 54-year-old woman exhibiting suspected symptoms of Ebola is admitted to the Government Medical College Hospital in Kottayam on Thursday, raising concerns among health officials. The woman, a resident of Valavoor, Pala, had recently returned from South Sudan via Uganda. She had come to a private hospital in Pala for treatment on Wednesday following a fever. Given her travel history, the health department officials intervened and shifted her to the medical college hospital for further evaluation.

The patient is under observation in a special isolation ward in the hospital. Hospital sources said, a special team is appointed to monitor her. Notably, she does not exhibit any other symptoms typically associated with Ebola, although there is a slight variation in her fever.

Whether she has contracted the infection or not could be confirmed only after the results of the swab sample sent to Thiruvananthapuram are received.

'No cause for concern'

Health Minister K Muraleedharan said there is no immediate cause for concern, adding that the decision for keeping the woman under observation was taken so as not to take even one percent risk.

Error-ridden Odisha books will continue

SUDARSAN MAHARANA
@Bhubaneswar

EVEN as the Odisha government has formed a three-member panel to probe large-scale errors in the new textbooks prescribed for Classes I to VIII, the State Council of Educational Research and Training (SCERT) on Thursday made it clear that no fresh books would be issued. Instead, teachers will have to use a corrigendum to teach students from the same textbooks during the current academic year.

SCERT director Madhusmita Sahoo said the books printed under the new syllabus had already been distributed. "The same books will continue to be used with necessary corrections. However, the council will take all measures to ensure that such lapses do not recur from the 2027-28 academic session onwards," Sahoo told mediapersons. She said the errors brought to SCERT's notice had been corrected and communicated to teachers through a corrigendum. Teachers will now rectify the mistakes and teach students accordingly, she added.

Around 2.8 crore textbooks were printed, of which more than 85 per cent have already been distributed.

ED raids pvt hospitals in organ trafficking trail

KOCHI: The Enforcement Directorate (ED) on Thursday conducted searches at six locations, including three private hospitals in Ernakulam, in connection with a case involving the alleged sale of human organs using forged documents. The searches were prompted by suspicions that the racket led by alleged kingpin Mohammed Najeeb received large commissions from private hospitals for facilitating illegal organ transplants. Police are continuing their investigation into allegations that forged affidavits bearing the names of MPs and MLAs, as well as documents used to facilitate organ trading. ENS

B'luru land crunch aids AP's start-up pitch

EXPRESS NEWS SERVICE
@Bengaluru

A social media post by a Bengaluru-based space-tech entrepreneur highlighting difficulties in securing land for a satellite manufacturing facility has again prompted Andhra Pradesh to court start-ups from the Karnataka capital.

Kshitij Khandelwal, the founder of space-tech start-up Pixxel, recently posted on 'X' that acquiring land on Bengaluru's outskirts for a satellite factory had proven more challenging than building the satellites themselves.

The post quickly drew attention from policymakers and industry observers.

Responding to the concerns, Karnataka Industries Minister MB Patil said his office would reach out to the company to address the issue.

Seizing the opportunity, Andhra Pradesh IT Minister Nara Lokesh invited the start-up to consider investing in Anantapur, which he described as an investor-friendly destination located on the outskirts of Bengaluru.

In a post on X, Lokesh said Andhra Pradesh was developing "space cities, aerospace parks and ready-to-go industrial ecosystems" to enable entrepreneurs to focus on innovation rather than land acquisition challenges.

He also directed the Andhra Pradesh Economic Development Board to engage with the company. Khandelwal later responded that the board had reached out and that Pixxel was "excited to explore" the proposed Anantapur Space City initiative.This has renewed discussions about the ease of doing business and industrial land availability in Bengaluru.

FOLLOW SPEED IN PUTTING UK TRADE DEAL TO WORK WITH HELP FOR INDIA INC

INDIA recently demonstrated that it can drive a hard bargain in trade negotiations when it secured favourable terms on steel under its free trade agreement with the UK. In a protectionist move, Britain had announced a 60 percent reduction in tariff-free steel import quotas from June 2026, along with a 50 percent duty on shipments exceeding the limit. The decision could have become a speed-breaker for the FTA, as India had threatened to revisit the tariff concessions it had offered if its steel exports were adversely affected. However, both sides arrived at a middle ground where around 85 percent of India's steel exports to the UK would be shielded from the restrictions. It underscores India's growing ability to safeguard its domestic industries while negotiating ambitious trade deals.

Equally important is the speed with which the two countries are moving from signing the agreement to its implementation, highlighting their shared urgency in strengthening trade ties in an era of increasing geopolitical uncertainties. The Prime Ministers of India and the UK, who met on the sidelines of the G7 Summit in France, announced that the FTA will come into force on July 15, less than a year after it was signed. While the finer details of the revised agreement will be made public on July 1, the Indian government indicated it has been able to "resolve all issues".

Another significant gain is the extension of social security exemptions for Indian employees working in British subsidiaries or affiliates. They will now be exempted from making social security contributions in the UK for up to five years—provided they continue contributing to India's social security system. Earlier, this exemption was limited to three years.

The FTA is expected to open up a $500-billion market for India, giving exporters a tariff advantage of 7-10 percent through the phased elimination of duties on most traded products. It also provides Indian suppliers access to the UK's $122-billion public procurement market. This should create significant opportunities for Indian businesses, particularly smaller enterprises and labour-intensive sectors. However, implementing the agreement is only the first step towards reaping its benefits. The government must ensure that smaller exporters are informed of the opportunities and are equipped to meet the technical, regulatory and legal requirements to make the best of them. That is when the deal would yield its dividend in jobs.

DON'T DISTORT TRUE CRIME PIC BY BLAMING MIGRANTS

TAMIL Nadu has one of the lowest rates for crimes against women in India. This distinction, coupled with the record of having the highest share women in the labour force, has reinforced the state's image as a progressive society. Yet, despite such reassuring numbers, a disturbing series of horrific sexual assaults, particularly against children, has dampened public confidence. The recent rape and death of a three-year-old daughter of migrant workers in Tiruvallur district is a harrowing example—the injuries from the assault, allegedly inflicted by a 19-year-old migrant, were so severe that she succumbed the next day in a government hospital in Chennai.

The contrast between this brutality and the visible presence of women in the state's public spaces is jarring. Blame has been put on the easy availability of psychotropic substances. Alcohol, too, is a contributor to violence against women and children—especially within homes. The accused in the Tiruvallur case was known to the child's family, an observation that aligns with the grim national data showing 98.6 percent of convicted rapists across the country in 2024 were known to their victims.

Some sections have blamed rising crimes on the inflow of migrant workers, yet such cases are far fewer than those perpetrated by the state's residents. The reality is that beneath the veneer of progress, Tamil Nadu, like the rest of the country, is a deeply patriarchal society—a fact that manifests in a range of acts of gender-based violence beginning with female foeticide. Compounding this is growing economic stress, which at times manifests in aggression against the vulnerable.

The solution cannot be knee-jerk. The state must incorporate gender sensitisation and age-appropriate sex education at every level of schooling. Children's energy must be directed towards pursuits such as sports, away from substance abuse. Urban infrastructure must be audited, planned and rebuilt from a gender perspective. Ensuring tidy, well-lit, accessible public spaces would make a world of difference, as would boosting CCTV coverage and strategic police patrolling. The state must not criminalise migrant workers, but engage with them to ensure inclusion in the education, health and employment services in ways that assure their safety and the well-being of their families. Most importantly, cases of sexual violence must be investigated efficiently, trials must be fast-tracked and justice ensured without revictimising the child or woman.

QUICK TAKE

KNOWLEDGE OUTSIDE CLASSROOMS

A routine field trip of students recently led to an astounding discovery. Post-graduate researchers from Maharaja Sriram Chandra Bhanja Deo University stumbled across 15-million-year-old marine fossils in Mayurbhanj district, revealing that parts of Odisha were once under an ancient sea. The fossils are from the Miocene geological epoch, when the Indian tectonic plate crashed into the Eurasian plate and pushed up the Himalayas. It's not the first time students have made an epochal find. Curious students in Rome this year found a second-century luxury villa under their school gym. In 2024, students in Mexico found a massive Maya city centuries after it had disappeared under a forest canopy. All of it proves a tenet that India's most consequential educationists held true—Tagore, Aurobindo and Krishnamurti exhorted students to seek knowledge outside classrooms.

India has been reminded recently that it doesn't have access to some frontier technologies of the era. It needs to consider buying companies strategically and shunning the toolbox fallacy

THE US government's recent directive restricting Anthropic from allowing its foreign customers to use Claude's most advanced models reset a pecking order. Where India stood in that order could be gleaned even earlier from the now-rescinded Artificial Intelligence Diffusion Rule that the US Bureau of Industry and Security had issued in January 2025. It placed India on the second tier of access, clubbing it with third-tier China for validation of end use. Hence, it has been clear for a while that India needs to seriously re-evaluate its strategies for accessing state-of-the-art technologies and for developing tech sovereignty in a restricted landscape.

Even when provided whole-heartedly, tech transfers have traditionally not gone past making a version of the product the transfer came with. For example, India received knowhow to make Mig-21 fighter jets, but still needed to buy Mig-25, Mig-27 and Mig-29. Tech transfers for Mig-29 and Sukhoi-30MKI played a minimal role in getting the indigenous Kaveri jet engine off the ground. This shows that in the name of transfer of technology, India has ended up getting only transfer of manufacturing.

Tech transfers are never complete, as tacit knowledge is almost impossible to transfer. A healthy transfer would allow subsequent advanced versions be built from the learnt knowledge. Thus, the best way to procure a foreign technology is to buy the company or business unit that owns the technology.

Examples for this do exist. During the pandemic days, Rolls-Royce sold its stake in the Spanish ITP Aero, which makes jet engines for Rafale's competitor, the Eurofighter Typhoon. Along with other capabilities, ITP Aero also built the Eurojet EJ200 engine, an upgraded variant of which (EJ230) it bid for the Tejas Mark II project, though it lost the order to General Electric's F414. Eventually, ITP Aero was bought for €1.7 billion—a pittance in the context of its strategic importance and the industry—by an American private equity group.

One might argue: why buy a sinking business when one just needs the technology? History shows that by moving labour-intensive manufacturing to India from higher-cost territories, Indians have been able to turn around many businesses. Tata's acquisition of Jaguar Land Rover comes to mind.

Another tech access strategy frequently talked about in bureaucratic circles is hiring foreign high-tech workers like those available during the fall of the Soviet Union. The private sector has a recent success story in telecom, where a large player hired an army of expats to build their infrastructure.

Another tech procurement strategy—seen more as a taboo in India—is reverse engineering. Due to its low acceptance, those who dabble in it are susceptible to the Dunning-Kruger effect, or the lack of foundational knowledge that's required to realise what one doesn't know. Reverse engineering continues to be misunderstood as a theft of intellectual property, though a landmark US Supreme Court judgement provided legitimacy for its use. In Bonito Boats vs Thunder Craft (1989), reverse engineering was adjudged "the very lifeblood of a competitive economy". In Kewanee Oil vs Bicron (1974), the US Supreme Court defined reverse engineering as "starting with the known product and working backward to divine the process which aided in its development or manufacture".

Limits exist through patents and contractual laws, but they do not cover the whole ground. For example, Indian IP laws provide safeguards that are used by the pharmaceutical industry. It's time the Indian jet engine industry learnt from it.

Almost all primary jet engine manufacturers have, at some stage, dabbled in reverse engineering to discern a technology legitimately. When done within a company, reverse engineering is also called re-engineering. Most jet engines today are built through such methods.

General Electric very proudly displays its "Hush-hush Boys", a top-secret engineering team assembled during World War II, on their website. What was the secrecy all about? Hindustan Aeronautics Limited (HAL) provides the most fertile ground for such an endeavour. Over decades, the company has worked with a large variety of jet engines from all over—from completely knock-down kits, and semi knock-down ones to those needing far more assembling. Though HAL does have R&D centres, it has not ventured to wholeheartedly compete with DRDO's Gas Turbine Research Establishment.

Reverse engineering needs to be incorporated in the Indian technical education system. A separate collaborative stream can be taught at all levels starting with BTech. The use of such skills can reduce development times for complex systems by up to 80 percent and for simpler ones by about 60 percent.

Unfortunately, many believe in the toolbox fallacy in technology development—the self-deception that one cannot achieve a goal, start a project, or learn a skill until they acquire the 'perfect' tools for it. This leads to grandiose budget allocations for exotic tools and infra, which often settle into centres of excellence. More often than not, these investments lead to a false sense of progress.

As we stay shy, China and Iran perfect the artful science to meet their needs. Iran's hold-out against the world's most powerful army with cheaply built Shahed-136 drones provide the counter that technology can indeed be built in the most challenging of environments. That the US itself reverse-engineered the Shahed-136 into its LUCAS (Low-cost Uncrewed Combat Attack System) drone confirms the premise! India holds many such opportunities for frugal technology. For example, Mohali's Semi-Conductor Laboratory has the technology for making global navigation satellite system receiver chips, including for India's NavIC.

Circling back to AI, India is still way back in the queue for access. Large language models and the advanced chips needed for making them seem elusive in the near future. Given the limited hardware access, a better route might be through small language models, which can be trained to indigenous needs and ply on cheaper infrastructure.

It is quite possible to achieve the dream of a developed nation in the next two decades. But India cannot afford to take the scenic route for that. It will need to buy companies, learn to reverse-engineer, shun the toolbox fallacy, be more welcoming of expat talent, invest in frugal innovations and take the SLM route to a variety of specialised models—all on its way to tech sovereignty.

RESCUING MORE, RECOVERING LESS

M S SAHOO

Emeritus Fellow, Insolvency Law Academy and former Chair, Insolvency and Bankruptcy Board

RAGHAV PANDEY

Director, Post Graduate Insolvency Programme, National Law University, Delhi

THE Insolvency and Bankruptcy Code, now in its 10th year, is perhaps India's most consequential market reform for resolving corporate distress and reallocating resources from failed enterprises to more efficient hands. Since its inception, the code has resolved stress of more than 4,400 companies, rescuing around 1,400 through resolution plans and sending the rest into liquidation.

The proportion of companies rescued has steadily improved: from 16 percent in 2017-18 to 48 percent in 2025-26. This is a significant achievement. It reflects a combination of legislative and regulatory facilitation, a consistent judicial preference for rescue over liquidation and growing institutional familiarity with the insolvency process. The IBC has undeniably converted a liquidation-first culture to one where business rescue is increasingly the norm.

Yet public discourse continues to judge the code primarily through the lens of creditor recoveries. This is conceptually misplaced. Recovery is only a by-product of insolvency resolution. The code aims to preserve enterprise value, continue viable businesses, discontinue unviable ones, reallocate capital efficiently and reinforce credit discipline. An excessive fixation on haircuts obscures these larger goals.

Even within the recovery debate, the metrics commonly used are often misleading. Official statistics place creditor realisation at roughly above 31 percent of admitted claims, while the World Bank estimates recovery in India at 72 cents to a dollar. The divergence reflects methodological differences. Both approaches compare recoveries against admitted claims, a benchmark detached from economic reality.

Many firms entering insolvency have already suffered years of value erosion. Comparing eventual recoveries with accumulated claims, therefore, tells us little about the effectiveness of the framework. A more meaningful benchmark is recovery relative to liquidation value of the assets available when the proceedings commence. Measured against this baseline, the IBC appears considerably more effective than headline haircut narratives suggest.

The data reveals another important feature: extreme concentration. Creditors in merely eight insolvency cases realised almost half the total recoveries generated from more than 1,400 companies. Such outlier cases heavily distort simple averages. To understand how the system performs in ordinary cases, it is more useful to examine outcomes in the broad middle of the distribution.

One way is through the interquartile mean (IQM), which captures outcomes in the middle range. Read through this lens, the trajectory of the IBC appears more nuanced. The early years before the pandemic represented the code at its strongest, resolving large legacy defaults. The pandemic disrupted this momentum. What is striking, however, is that even after economic recovery, the system has not returned to its earlier performance levels despite the rising proportion of companies rescued.

AFP

The Insolvency and Bankruptcy Code, which marked its 10th anniversary at May end, faces a fundamental challenge in its second decade. As resolution rates have risen, timelines and recoveries have fallen. Value destroyed by delays dents the code's original promise

The evidence points to a troubling pattern. As resolution rates have increased, both timelines and recoveries have weakened. The IQM of recoveries relative to liquidation value has declined from 158 in 2017-18 to 130 in 2025-26. During the same period, the average time taken for insolvency proceedings ending in resolution plans has increased from 229 days to 886.

This does not necessarily establish causal relations among rescue rates, recovery rates and timeline. Several factors may be contributing simultaneously: changing case composition, weaker post-pandemic asset quality, prolonged litigation, strategic behaviour by stakeholders and institutional delays. But the correlation is sufficiently strong to warrant serious attention.

The growing delay has drawn judicial concern. The Supreme Court recently noted that 363 resolution plans were pending with the National Company Law Tribunal for approval, some for nearly four years, and warned that unless these deficiencies were addressed on a war footing, the very purpose of the IBC would stand frustrated.

Delay destroys value. A company trapped in prolonged insolvency proceedings steadily loses customers, employees, contracts, suppliers and market relevance. The longer the process drags on, the smaller the eventual recovery pool becomes. This may explain the paradox in the data.

The real prize in insolvency resolution is the rescue premium, the difference between what creditors recover from a functioning business and what they would have recovered from a break-up sale in liquidation. That premium appears to have narrowed over time.

The composition of rescues appears to be changing, suggesting that the insolvency ecosystem has progressively shifted from resolving a smaller number of large, asset-intensive companies to a larger number of smaller or relatively asset-light enterprises. Alternatively, it may suggest that resolution applicants are becoming more selective in bidding for large distressed assets. A bidder may submit a resolution plan today but receive approval years later, by which time economic conditions may have fundamentally changed. Yet the applicant remains locked into the process with limited flexibility.

The implications are significant. If one applies the deterioration in recovery performance across the liquidation value of all companies rescued, the shortfall may run into tens of thousands of crores. That loss is ultimately borne by banks, depositors, taxpayers and the broader economy.

The harder question confronting the IBC in its second decade is whether a rescue that takes years and delivers lower value is consistent with the code's original promise.

Allies desert Cong in RS election

Cross-voting helps BJP-backed indepedent win though INDIA bloc has 56 MLAs in J'khand

PREETHA NAIR & MUKESH RANJAN
@ New Delhi/Ranchi

IN a major setback for the Congress, its Jharkhand Rajya Sabha candidate Pranav Jha lost the election despite the ruling INDIA bloc enjoying a comfortable numerical strength in the Assembly. Independent candidate Parimal Nathwani secured a return to the Upper House with the backing of the BJP. The result triggered allegations of cross-voting within the INDIA bloc.

With Nathwani's victory, the NDA has now secured 20 of the 27 Rajya Sabha seats that went to polls in the current cycle. With this, the NDA's strength in the Upper House is set to rise to 152, bringing it closer to the two-thirds mark of 163 in the 243-member House.

The Jharkhand Mukti Morcha (JMM) candidate Baidyanath Ram won the other Rajya Sabha seat from the state. The INDIA bloc marginally improved its tally from five to seven seats in this round of polls.

According to officials, Nathwani secured 28 votes and was declared elected, while Jha got 20 votes. Three votes—two from BJP MLAs and one from a Congress MLA—were declared invalid. The NDA has only 24 MLAs in the 81-member Jharkhand Assembly, four short of the 28 first-preference votes required to win a Rajya Sabha seat. However, the ruling INDIA bloc, comprising the JMM, Congress and allies, has 56 members in the House.

NDA a step closer to two-thirds mark in Upper House

With Nathwani's victory, the NDA has now secured 20 of the 27 Rajya Sabha seats that went to polls in the current cycle. With this, the NDA's strength in the Upper House is set to rise to 152, bringing it closer to the two-thirds mark of 163 in the 243-member House.

The result has raised questions over possible cross-voting in the INDIA bloc with state Congress in-charge K Raju alleging that MLAs from the Rashtriya Janata Dal (RJD) and CPI(M-L) cross-voted, leading to Jha's defeat. "We received all 16 Congress votes and four surplus votes from the JMM, taking our tally to 20. This result is a consequence of betrayal by the RJD and CPI(M-L)," Raju alleged.

Former Jharkhand Congress president Rajesh Thakur described the outcome as "tragic and shameful". "Nothing could be more tragic than this. What happened today is a shameful incident for democracy. Across the country, whether in Maharashtra, West Bengal or elsewhere, legislators are being purchased. Offers of ₹15 crore are being made," he said.

However, CPI(M-L) general secretary Dipankar Bhattacharya rejected the allegations, saying that both MLAs from his party voted for the Congress candidate. "We can say with full responsibility that our two MLAs voted for the Congress nominee as planned. Senior party leaders verified the votes cast by our legislators," Bhattacharya said in a post on X.

The Jharkhand setback for the INDIA bloc comes days after the blow the Congress received in Madhya Pradesh, where its candidate Meenakshi Natarajan's nomination was rejected over alleged concealment of information in her election affidavit. As a result, all three BJP candidates from the state were elected unopposed.

Earlier, 24 candidates were elected unopposed to the Rajya Sabha. Of these, 19 seats went to the NDA, while the Congress won five. Among those elected unopposed were Congress president Mallikarjun Kharge, party media department head Pawan Khera and AICC secretary Mansoor Ali Khan from Karnataka. BJP leaders Satish Poonia and Tarun Chugh were also elected unopposed.

In Mizoram, the ruling Zoram People's Movement (ZPM) secured the lone seat, with K Laltluangkima defeating Mizo National Front candidate Zothansangi Hmar by 26 votes to 10. Three MLAs—two from the BJP and one from the Congress—abstained, while one ZPM legislator was unable to vote.

Union ministers among senior BJP leaders may get organisational roles

RAJESH KUMAR THAKUR @ New Delhi

THE BJP leadership is considering assigning several senior and electorally astute leaders, including two to three Union Ministers, key organisational responsibilities alongside the task of overseeing election strategy in Uttar Pradesh and Punjab. The exercise follows recent consultations with RSS functionaries.

Among those being considered for key organisational and electoral assignments are Union Ministers Shivraj Singh Chouhan and Bhupender Yadav, BJP national general secretaries Vinod Tawde and Tarun Chugh, as well as senior strategist Sunil Bansal.

Buoyed by its recent success in West Bengal, the BJP has reportedly begun preparations for the next round of Assembly elections in seven states, with particular attention being given to Uttar Pradesh and Punjab.

While Punjab is currently ruled by the Aam Aadmi Party, Uttar Pradesh is under a BJP government. The party is learnt to have formulated a special strategy for Punjab with the objective of wresting power in the state in next year's polls, much like it expanded its position in West Bengal.

More than half a dozen senior leaders are reportedly being considered for important organisational appointments while also being entrusted with electoral assignments. The appointments are expected to be announced within the coming week, most likely a few days after PM Narendra Modi returns from his overseas visits.

Sources indicated on Thursday that those entrusted with dual responsibilities of organisational management and electoral planning will play a central role in shaping campaign structures while strengthening the organisation in key states as well as at the central level.

The move is being viewed as part of a broader effort to strengthen the party organisation and align it with electoral requirements ahead of important Assembly elections.

Preparations on for next round of Assembly elections

Among those being considered for key organisational and electoral assignments are Union Ministers Shivraj Singh Chouhan and Bhupender Yadav, BJP national general secretaries Vinod Tawde and Tarun Chugh, as well as senior strategist Sunil Bansal. The BJP has reportedly begun preparations for the next round of Assembly elections in seven states.

Party insiders suggested that Sunil Bansal, credited with playing a key behind-the-scenes role in strengthening the BJP's organisational presence in West Bengal, could be tasked with overseeing preparations for the Uttar Pradesh Assembly elections. Tarun Chugh, given his political roots and familiarity with the state, is being viewed as a strong contender for a significant role in Punjab.

Meanwhile, Shivraj Singh Chouhan's political stature, organisational experience and social outreach are said to be factors weighing in favour of a prominent assignment in Uttar Pradesh as the BJP begins laying the groundwork for the 2027 Assembly elections.

Coastal regions face submersion as ocean heat at record levels: Report

JITENDRA CHOUBEY @ New Delhi

A report by the World Meteorological Organization (WMO) has revealed that the Indian coastal region is submerging faster than other coastal areas in the world, as heat content in the Indian Ocean in the Asia region has increased since the 1990s and reached a new record in 2025.

According to the WMO's "State of the Climate in Asia 2025" report, sea level in the Asia region reached its highest degree since satellite records began in 1999. The rates of sea-level rise from 1999–2025 along much of the northern Indian Ocean coast exceeded the global average of approximately 3.6 mm per year, reaching around 4.9 mm per year along the Indian coast and more than 6 mm per year in the Kuroshio Current region on the western side of the North Pacific.

The report says that rising temperatures in the region have resulted in mass loss across all 23 monitored glaciers. The melting of glaciers threatens long-term water security in the world's most heavily populated region and leads to an increase in hazards. The region recorded floods caused by multiple glacial lake outbursts and glacier collapses in 2025. The report notes that the melting of glaciers affects sea level and regional water cycles.

Not only the ocean temperature, but overall Asia has warmed faster than the global average in recent decades, with the warming trend during 1991–2025 approximately twice that observed during 1961–1990. The year 2025 was between the second and fourth warmest years on record depending on the dataset used. The annual mean temperature over Asia in 2025 was 0.96 °C + 0.08 above the 1991–2020 average.

The report also highlights the significant impact of too much or too little rainfall. Most of southern Asia received above-average precipitation in 2025, with the monsoon delivering exceptionally heavy rainfall. In Pakistan, monsoon flooding was associated with more than 1,000 deaths and left over three million people requiring assistance.

The report highlights the growing importance of impact-based forecasting and early action, which can contain loss caused by events like Cyclone Ditwah. It brought extreme rainfall to Sri Lanka, with approximately 10 per cent of the typical annual rainfall falling within 24 hours. The event resulted in more than 640 deaths. On the other hand, in China, heavy rainfall in Liangshan in Sichuan province demonstrated the value of timely warnings and coordinated action. Early evacuation helped reduce disaster impacts and save lives.

Gor seeks Shah help to counter terror

MUKESH RANJAN @ New Delhi

AFTER arriving from the G7 Summit in Evian, France, US Ambassador to India Sergio Gor on Thursday called on Union Home Minister Amit Shah and discussed ways to strengthen bilateral cooperation on security, with focus on counter-terrorism and counter-narcotics efforts.

The meeting came a day after Prime Minister Narendra Modi and US President Donald Trump held talks on the sidelines of the G7 Summit, reflecting continued engagement between the two countries.

According to the Ministry of Home Affairs (MHA), Shah and Gor reviewed the trajectory of the India-US Comprehensive Global Strategic Partnership and explored avenues to deepen cooperation in addressing security challenges.

Discussions centred on enhancing intelligence-sharing mechanisms, strengthening operational coordination against terrorism, and developing a more robust framework to disrupt transnational drug trafficking networks that threaten regional stability and public safety, it noted.

In a post on X, Shah said he had a detailed discussion with Gor on expanding collaboration in security-related areas. He reiterated India's commitment to advance the Comprehensive Global Strategic Partnership and ensure that bilateral ties continue to benefit the people of both nations.

Gor described the meeting as productive, saying the two sides discussed joint efforts to combat terrorism, curb the flow of narcotics and illicit drugs, strengthen border security and bring criminals to justice. He later noted that he had returned to New Delhi after accompanying the US delegation to G7 Summit, where India and US recorded several positive outcomes.

The Shah-Gor meeting followed extensive discussions between Modi and Trump during the G7 Summit. The two leaders reviewed progress in negotiations for an interim bilateral trade agreement and explored ways to deepen economic cooperation, trade ties and regional security collaboration.

The Ministry of External Affairs said both sides took stock of ongoing trade negotiations and agreed to maintain momentum in talks aimed at concluding the interim trade pact. As part of the process, US Trade Representative Jamieson Greer is expected to visit India.

BRICS NSAs to meet in July ahead of summit

EXPRESS NEWS SERVICE @ New Delhi

CHINESE Foreign Minister Wang Yi will visit India from June 22-23 to attend the 16th Meeting of BRICS National Security Advisers and High Representatives on National Security, Beijing announced on Thursday.

According to a statement by the Chinese Foreign Ministry, Wang, a member of the Political Bureau of the Communist Party of China and Director of the Office of the Central Commission for Foreign Affairs, will attend the meeting at the invitation of National Security Adviser Ajit Doval. The visit marks Wang's first trip to India in nearly a year.

Chinese Foreign Ministry spokesperson Lin Jian said meeting will focus on international security situation, key regional and global issues, and responses to traditional and non-traditional security challenges.

Central command centre to monitor NEET exam

S LALITHA @ New Delhi

EDUCATION Minister Dharmendra Pradhan on Thursday directed all authorities concerned with the NEET-UG re-exam on June 21 to remain vigilant and prepared.

Officers designated by the ministry will reach all states to coordinate the activities pertaining to the re-exam process and report to the main command centre headed by the Director General of the National Testing Agency (NTA), said a ministry statement.

Pradhan conducted a review meet on exam preparedness with senior officials and functionaries of the ministry, state governments, NTA and higher educational institutions.

"The command centres in states are basically like control centres which will closely monitor all aspects pertaining the exam. The ministry officials will leave by tomorrow (Friday) and stay until the NEET UG exam concludes," an official told this newspaper.

The minister emphasised the importance of maintaining the highest standards of integrity, transparency and efficiency in the examination process. "He directed officials concerned to ensure that necessary measures are in place for fair conduct of the re-examination," the statement said. The minister asked the designated nodal officers of the states to ensure that students are provided all facilities to enable them to appear for the re-examination in a stress-free environment.

Education Minister Dharmendra Pradhan at the meeting on Thursday | EXPRESS

NTA Director General Abhishek Singh said the agency was working with all stakeholders including the district-level coordination committees headed by district magistrates, state police departments and intelligence agencies to ensure that the re-exam is conducted smoothly. School education and literacy department Secretary Sanjay Kumar said, "The students must be put at absolute ease to appear for the examination, by giving them all necessary facilities."

Rahul launches signature drive against paper leaks

EXPRESS NEWS SERVICE @ New Delhi

A day after his Kota visit, Congress leader Rahul Gandhi on Thursday launched a signature campaign to amplify issues related to the education system, such as paper leaks and high fees, asserting that it is a platform for students to make demands directly to the government.

Gandhi posted a link the campaign where students can share ideas and sign a petition. "If you've suffered because of paper leaks, exam issues, or high fees, if this education system has shattered your dreams, if your family has invested a lifetime of savings in your education, then 'Chhatron Ki Goonj' is your voice," the Leader of Opposition said in the post on X.

Gandhi noted that the initiative goes beyond a campaign; it is a platform for students to raise issues such as the need for affordable education, fair examinations, and dignified job opportunities. "Join the movement: Click the link below. Fill in your name and share your ideas. Sign the petition—that's it," Gandhi said, urging the youth to sign up for this movement. "More the signatures, louder the goonj!" he added.

During his interaction with students in Kota, he described India's education system as a "rejection system" rather than a selection system, claiming it places an excessive financial burden and causes significant stress to students and middle-class families.

Gandhi remarked that the current education structure is "extremely stressful and unfair." "This is not good for the country. I want all of us to work together to ensure that no student in this country ever feels what this girl felt," he said at the "Chhatron ki Goonj" Maha Rally in Kota, where he interacted with students on various issues like paper leaks and unemployment.

No interim stay on CBSE 3-language rule for Class IX from '26-'27, says SC

SUCHITRA KALYAN MOHANTY
@ New Delhi

THE Supreme Court on Thursday declined to grant any interim relief and refused to pass an order on a plea challenging the CBSE's decision to make three languages, including two Indian languages, compulsory for Class 9 students from the 2026–27 academic year.

A two-judge bench of Chief Justice Surya Kant and Justice V. Mohana clubbed the petition filed by the NGO Friends of People for Active Democracy (FPAD) with other pending petitions on the same issue.

"We are not inclined to pass a one-line interim order. The arguments have been heard in detail. No interim protection can be granted," the bench said while tagging the matter.

Petitioner FPAD argued that forcing students to study two Indian languages places undue burden, particularly on learners in non-Hindi-speaking regions, and curtails their choice of third language. It also flagged a lack of teachers and infrastructure in schools.

The CBSE, through the Additional Solicitor General, justified the 2026–27 rollout. It said the three-language formula stems from the NEP 2020 and is meant to encourage multilingualism and cultural unity. The Board added that schools will have flexibility to offer languages based on local capacity.

The court observed that similar challenges are already before it and said a consolidated hearing will prevent contradictory orders. "Matters of academic policy fall within the domain of expert bodies unless there is patent illegality. We will test legal issues at the final stage," CJI Surya Kant noted.

The bench refused to stay the CBSE notification and posted all related petitions for hearing in the third week of August.

With many pleas pending, the July 1 deadline leaves schools under two months to appoint teachers, adjust timetables, and arrange books, the plea added.

Ex-sports minister seeks freezing of party account ● HC approves Speaker's decision on LoP

SUBHENDU MAITI @ Kolkata

IN a move that could further intensify the turmoil within the Trinamool Congress, former state sports minister and ex-party treasurer Aroop Biswas has written to HDFC Bank seeking a freeze on the party's account, citing a dispute over the organisation's leadership and concerns over the possible misuse of funds.

The letter comes amid the Calcutta High Court's directive on Thursday approving West Bengal Legislative Assembly Speaker Rathindranath Bose's decision to recognise Ritabrata Banerjee, the rebel Trinamool Congress MLA from Uluberia Purba constituency in Howrah, as the Leader of the Opposition in the House.

TMC MLA Sobhandeb Chattopadhyay moved the court, challenging the rejection of his nomination for the post and the appointment of Banerjee as the Leader of Opposition by the Speaker. Justice Krishna Rao, refusing any interim order on the Speaker's decision, directed that the matter would appear for hearing again on July 28.

Biswas, who recently appeared before the Bidhannagar South Police Station in Salt Lake for questioning over his alleged links to vandalism during an event featuring Argentine football star Lionel Messi at Salt Lake Stadium in December last year and the alleged black-marketing of tickets, expressed concern that unauthorised persons could misuse signed cheques and sought maintenance of status quo until the matter is resolved.

'Rival groups claiming to be legitimate representatives'

Aroop Biswas wrote to the bank: "At present, rival groups are claiming to be the legitimate representatives and office bearers of AITC, resulting in uncertainty regarding the authority of persons who may seek to operate the bank accounts maintained in the name of AITC." He is a former heavyweight minister who served as Treasurer of the Trinamool Congress until the Assembly elections.

"At present, rival groups are claiming to be the legitimate representatives and office bearers of AITC, resulting in uncertainty regarding the authority of persons who may seek to operate the bank accounts maintained in the name of AITC," wrote Biswas, a former heavyweight minister who served as Treasurer of the TMC until the Assembly elections.

Following the party's electoral defeat, the Trinamool Congress leadership carried out an organisational overhaul and appointed former Rajya Sabha MP Subhashis Chakraborty as Treasurer, removing Biswas from the post. Biswas himself lost the Tollygunj Assembly seat to BJP candidate Papiya Adhikari.

"In order to safeguard the funds of the organisation... I request your good office to maintain status quo and refrain from permitting any debit transactions or changes in operational mandates in respect of the following account... until the dispute is duly resolved," Biswas stated in the letter.

"It is further matter of public knowledge that a substantial number of elected representatives of the party, including 20 out of 28 Members of Parliament and 58 out of 90 Members of the Legislative Assembly, have either left the Party or have openly revolted against the existing leadership. In these circumstances, a serious dispute has arisen regarding the authority, control and management of the party," he added.

Biswas also expressed fears that signed cheques, including those currently in the custody of rebel leaders whose authority remains under dispute, could be misused. He further stated in the letter that he had faced hardship and was subjected to harassment over alleged discrepancies concerning the financial affairs of the TMC.

The Trinamool Congress has been rocked by a rebellion led by Ritabrata Banerjee, backed by around 65 dissident legislators, after the party's defeat in the 2026 Assembly polls, where it secured only 80 of the 294 seats in the state Assembly.

Rajbhar claims split in SP soon, Akhilesh says ready to take on BJP

NAMITA BAJPAI @ Lucknow

UTTAR Pradesh minister and Suheldev Bharatiya Samaj Party (SBSP) chief Om Prakash Rajbhar on Thursday reiterated his claim that the Samajwadi Party (SP) could soon split. However, SP president Akhilesh Yadav dismissed the assertion, saying his party was prepared to challenge the BJP.

In a post on X, Rajbhar hinted that a senior SP leader could lead a rebellion. Supporting Rajbhar, another minister, Sanjay Kumar Nishad, said, "All SP and Congress MPs in Uttar Pradesh who follow a Hindu ideology keep meeting us for opportunities and to establish contact with the leadership in Delhi. Their number is no less than two dozen."

Rajbhar claimed that a leader from Ballia would head a group of dissident SP MPs, as the leader was unhappy after Brahmins were reportedly insulted during a recent conference at the SP office.

According to Rajbhar, plans for a rebellion already existed, but the incident had deepened resentment. He said a split in the SP was now certain and advised Akhilesh Yadav to focus on saving his MPs rather than engaging on social media, at press conferences, or in air-conditioned rooms.

Rajbhar had earlier compared the situation to political developments in Maharashtra and claimed that SP leader Ram Gopal Yadav had submitted a letter to Home Minister Amit Shah regarding some MPs.

Responding, Akhilesh said, "It (BJP) has already broken several political parties. In Uttar Pradesh too, it poached many SP MLAs, MLCs and Rajya Sabha members. There must have been some self-interest, greed or fear behind those who left the party. Anyone who gets scared or intimidated can leave. But if the BJP has to be challenged, the team must be made up of brave people."

Deputy Chief Minister Keshav Prasad Maurya, however, said that the BJP was not involved in any politics of defections.

Dissent grows against Maha Cong president

Maharashtra Congress president Harshavardhan Sapkal, who was having a smooth sailing, has started facing opposition within the party. Aggrieved leaders within Congress have started airing their dissent in public. Some senior Congress leaders, who were instrumental in Sapkal's appointment as state party chief, are now taking a different stand. In Solapur, Congress workers staged a protest demanding Sapkal's removal from the post. Some leaders rushed to Delhi to meet Congress president Mallikarjun Kharge. However, Kharge is in no mood to replace Sapkal for now. The dissident leaders have started mobilisation on a larger scale.

A marriage plan puts poaching ops on hold

Marriages are considered a happy moment for the couples and families. The same has turned out to be true for NCP SP chief Sharad Pawar and his daughter Supriya Sule, an MP. Supriya's daughter Revti has got engaged with Nagpur-based Sarang Lakhani whose father was recently elected unopposed as a BJP MLC. Lakhani's family has strong ties with the RSS and BJP. The marriage plan has given a short relief to the Pawar family. The reason: BJP and Deputy CM Eknath Shinde have decided to put poaching of NCP SP MPs on hold till Revati and Sarang are married. The poaching operation may be carried out after the marriage.

Civil contractors face kickback trouble

The engineers who turned civil contractors held a meeting in Kolhapur to discuss growing demands for kickbacks. They said 56% of the total cost of a government project goes in paying kickbacks. This results in inferior quality work. They complained to the authorities about the problem. However, they found that junior engineers to secretaries and local body members to ministers all want to be paid. The contractors are at their wit's end on whom approach for justice. These engineering graduates decided to start their own business. They started their business with great hope but soon realised the systemic hurdles to fair business.

Probe report into maternal deaths sparks Kota row

RAJESH ASNANI @ Jaipur

THE report of the probe into the deaths of five pregnant women last month after cesarean deliveries has identified medical negligence at Kota's New Medical College Hospital, administrative shortcomings, and poor infection control measures as the primary factors behind the deaths.

Rajasthan Health Minister Gajendra Singh Khinvsar confirmed that government has received the report and is conducting a review. According to the findings, one of the women, named Shirin, developed a severe infection after an infected uterus was stitched during treatment, leading to the spread of infection and multi-organ failure. In the remaining cases, the causes of death included pulmonary embolism, excessive bleeding, and cardiac complications, said sources.

Shirin's husband, Mohammad Ashu, had earlier alleged inconsistencies in the treatment process. The report also highlighted deficiencies in hospital management, pointing to lapses in medical care. A committee of experts from SMS Medical College, Jaipur, probed the deaths.

Former CM Ashok Gehlot demanded suspension of officials and doctors responsible and initiation of criminal action.

Bihar brutality: 28-yr-old woman gang-raped by 5 holding husband captive

RAMASHANKAR @ Patna

A 28-year-old married woman was gang raped by five youths after her husband was held captive in Bihar's Begusarai district. The incident occurred on the night of June 11. A medical examination on Thursday confirmed the rape and revealed a live bullet, a stone and a piece of wood in her private parts.

The survivor is undergoing treatment at Sadar Hospital in the district headquarters. In her statement before a court, she said five youths forcibly detained her when she had gone outside to attend the call of nature. The accused took her to a secluded location, tied her hands and feet with a rope, and raped her, she said.

She alleged that the accused assaulted her one after another and beat her when she tried to raise an alarm. The attackers left the spot only after she fell unconscious. Her husband later reached the location, found her and took her to the hospital for treatment.

An FIR was subsequently registered at Chakiya police station. Police recorded the victim's statement before her medical examination, which later confirmed rape and assault.

Begusarai Superintendent of Police Manish said a special team had been formed to arrest the accused. He said, "Raids are underway to arrest the accused at the earliest."

Sadar SDPO Anand Kumar Pandey said the victim returned home after receiving initial treatment on June 12. However, she was admitted to hospital again after complaining of severe pain in her private parts. Pandey said rape and assault had been confirmed. During examination and treatment, doctors removed a live bullet, a stone and a piece of wood from her private parts.

The incident has sparked anger among Begusarai residents, who are demanding the immediate arrest of the accused. A social activist warned that direct action would be taken if police failed to arrest them.

Sand mining: Four of family held for killing of BJP leader

EJAZ KAISER @ Raipur

THE Chhattisgarh Police has made four arrests in the sensational case of violence that took place between two rival factions involved in sand mining in the Korea district that left three people dead. The government has formed a special investigation team to probe the murder and arson case.

Additional SP Suresha Choube said, "The police have arrested four primary accused, all of them belonging to the same household. They include Manoj Tripathi, Akshat Tripathi, Vishal Tripathi and Satyaprakash Tripathi. Further raids are underway to capture the remaining five accused."

The inter-gang violence took place on Tuesday night and involved long-standing rivalry between two groups about claiming dominance over illegal sand mining and supply chain in the black market. A 30-member mob had allegedly used a heavy dumper to hit an SUV before setting it ablaze with petrol. A local BJP leader Bharat Singh alias Lalla Singh, 60, was one of the three dead. Singh was a former janpad panchayat president and was traveling with his brother Nagendra Singh, who also died in the violence, and their associates a Toyota Fortuner and a Skoda sedan.

Crime over dominance spat in illegal sand mining

The inter-gang violence took place on Tuesday night and involved long-standing rivalry between two groups about claiming dominance over illegal sand mining and supply chain in the black market. A mob had allegedly used a heavy dumper to hit an SUV before setting it ablaze.

According to investigators, a nephew of the Singh brothers had won a legitimate government contract for the Navgai sand ghat. As per the rules, sand extraction was strictly restricted to this designated zone. However, the rival Tripathi family had allegedly been bypassing legal channels entirely, operating illegal mining from unassigned zones nearby.

Friction intensified between the two families in the past few months, as the legal contractors started intercepting the vehicles of the Tripathis and levied operational containment tolls. A violent clash broke out between the two groups on Tuesday evening, leading to a police complaint.

Hoping to settle the matter, the Singh family travelled to Navgai village late at night to meet the rival Tripathis, but it was unaware that that it was driving into a trap allegedly laid by the Tripathis, which had gathered a mob and were ready with dumpers. The attackers reportedly repeatedly rammed into the Singh brothers' Toyota Fortuner. The impact jammed the SUV doors and trapped the occupants inside. The mob then poured petrol over the vehicle and set it on fire. The accused allegedly beat up occupants when they tried to escape by breaking window panes.

The police, however, has not yet confirmed willful intent in burning of the vehicles. Its forensic teams are conducting examination to ascertain whether the vehicle was deliberately set on fire.

Chronically unprotected: Thousands of trees axed in C'garh for land titles

EJAZ KAISER @ Raipur

THOUSANDS of trees are being felled in the dense forests of Abujhmad in Chhattisgarh's Narayanpur as the administration feels helpless because the region still falls under the 'unsurveyed area' category. For decades, the forested terrain remained insulated due to the Maoists' dominance. Now for the first time, a formal land revenue survey is being conducted in this 'unsurveyed' region to establish land records.

The district administration admitted that trees are being felled as villagers have been practising shifting cultivation on a large scale. However, local sources revealed that the area, now open for the first time after the Maoists were eliminated, has triggered a chaotic race among people to claim ownership of forest lands.

'Closely monitoring'

"We are closely monitoring the situation. The villagers stated they have been practicing age-old shifting cultivation, which results in the felling of trees inside the forest. No outsiders will be allowed to grab or encroach the forest land" affirmed Namrata Jain, Narayanpur collector.

"Abujhmad has remained an unsurveyed territory since Independence. Consequently, the forest department lacks a regular regulatory setup or permanent field staff stationed within the area. Revenue department is executing a land survey," Narayanpur DFO Venkatesh M G told this newspaper.

After the liberation of this region from Maoist influence, administrative access has opened up. "We are closely monitoring the situation. Villagers stated they have been practising shifting cultivation, which results in the felling of trees. No outsiders will be allowed to grab or encroach forest land," said Narayanpur collector Namrata Jain.

Environmentalists warned of devastating impact on ecology. "Abujhmad spans over 4,000 sq km and is recognised as a vital carbon sink and biodiversity hotspot. It is a habitat for rare wildlife," said Nitin Singhvi, an environmentalist.

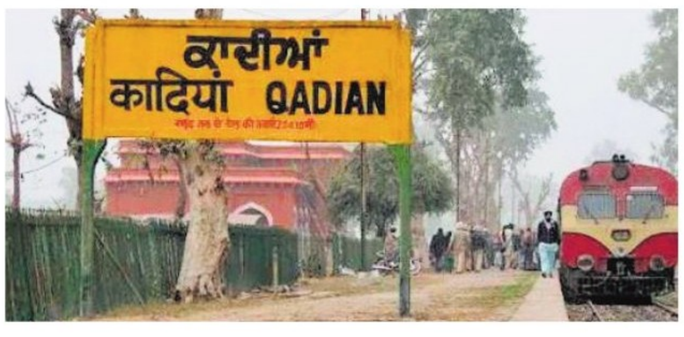
Qadian-Beas rly project revived after 100 years

HARPREET BAJWA @ Chandigarh

BARELY 40 kilometres apart, Qadian and Beas have waited nearly a century for railway tracks to bridge the distance. The wait may finally be over with the revival of the long-pending rail link project.

The approval comes with less than a year to go before the Punjab Assembly elections. The Northern Railway will execute the project, estimated to cost around ₹1,400 crore.

Union Minister of State for Railways Ravneet Singh Bittu said the proposed 39.68-km broad-gauge corridor will connect Qadian in Gurdaspur district with Beas in Amritsar district. The alignment will pass through Qadian, Dhapai, Ghuman, Butala, Sathiala and Beas, bringing large parts of the Majha belt onto the railway network and improving mobility for local residents. Besides improving regional connectivity, the rail line will serve as an alternative corridor to the crucial Amritsar–Pathankot section during emergencies.



"The project envisages two crossing stations at Ghuman and Butala, eleven major bridges and 121 minor bridges, 54 Road Under Bridges (RUBs), modern signaling and telecommunication systems and deployment of Kavach, the country's indigenous train collision avoidance system," Bittu said.

Tracing the project's history, Bittu said the link originated during the British era and was first approved in 1928-29 by the then North-Western Railway. However, the project was halted in 1932 after nearly 33% of the track had been completed.

Bittu said the project was revived under the Socially Desirable Rail Connectivity Programme and included in the supplementary Railway Budget of 2010-11. However, financial concerns raised by the Planning Commission stalled progress once again.

"Recognising its strategic and developmental significance, the project was revived under the Socially Desirable Rail Connectivity Programme and included in the supplementary Railway Budget 2010–11. After years of delays and procedural hurdles, the project has now been revived," he said.

Sources said a letter issued last year by the Chief Administrative Officer (Construction), Northern Railway, stated that the Railway Board had sought the immediate "defreezing" of the project and resubmission of the detailed estimate for early sanction to enable construction work to begin.

Bittu said the project would also unlock significant economic opportunities by improving market access for farmers and agricultural produce, facilitating faster transportation, boosting trade, commerce and small-scale industries, generating employment during construction and operation, and encouraging investment across the Majha region.

SOURCE OF $300 BN FUNDING TO IRAN A GREY AREA

Accord takes effect immediately; Trump says US will not fund Iran reconstruction bill, calls critics 'fools' as Israel attacks Lebanon again

ISLAMABAD/WASHINGTON

PAKISTAN on Thursday announced that the United States and Iran had signed a peace agreement ending their 107-day conflict and paving the way for the reopening of the Strait of Hormuz, but questions remained over a promised $300-billion post-war reconstruction fund after US President Donald Trump said Washington would not contribute to it.

Prime Minister Shehbaz Sharif said the formal ceremony would be held in Geneva on Friday. The interim accord also promises the unfreezing of billions of dollars in Iranian assets held abroad under a mechanism yet to be worked out. The proposed reconstruction package exceeds the World Bank's estimates of $215 billion needed to rebuild Syria after 13 years of civil war and $53 billion required for Gaza.

Sharif said the agreement would enter into force immediately, with Iran reopening the Strait of Hormuz and the United States lifting the naval blockade. Vice President J D Vance said the US Navy had already allowed more than a dozen ships through to Iranian ports and that more than 12.5 million barrels had passed through the waterway overnight, marking the first steps in implementing the deal. The agreement launches a 60-day negotiating period aimed at reaching a final accord on Iran's nuclear programme. US officials said Tehran would dilute its enriched uranium stocks under international supervision, while sanctions crippling Iranian oil exports would be waived immediately.

Iranian President Masoud Pezeshkian displays a copy of the memorandum of understanding he signed with US President Donald Trump aimed at ending the war and launching negotiations on a broader agreement in Tehran, Iran | AP

WAR WATCH

Blockade ends, talks in doubt

The US military on Thursday lifted its blockade of Iranian ports imposed during the war, allowing commercial traffic to resume even as activity in the Strait of Hormuz remained subdued. Meanwhile, Vance said he planned to travel to Switzerland this weekend for technical talks with Iran, though plans remained fluid. Iranian media said Tehran had yet to confirm the trip. Maritime trackers said three Saudi oil tankers and a French LNG vessel had transited the strait.

Trump hits back at critics

Trump, who signed the accord during a dinner with French President Emmanuel Macron at the Palace of Versailles, lashed out at critics who said the agreement handed Tehran major concessions. "These fools, who think I haven't been tough enough on Iran, when the Stock Market just hit a record high and oil prices are tumbling, are either jealous, bad people, or stupid," he posted on social media.

Iranian President Masoud Pezeshkian signed the accord, but some Republicans remained unconvinced, with Senator Bill Cassidy calling it the "worst foreign policy blunder in decades". Critics argued the agreement offered Tehran huge financial benefits without dismantling its nuclear programme.

Bibi rules out withdrawal

Israeli Prime Minister Benjamin Netanyahu said troops would remain in southern Lebanon and maintain a security zone extending up to 10 km from the border. The Israeli military said it would continue removing threats beyond the zone, underlining uncertainty over implementation of the peace agreement.

Lebanon violence continues

Despite the accord calling for an end to the conflict in Lebanon, Israeli strikes in south Lebanon killed three people on Thursday, according to Lebanese state media. Hezbollah said it had repelled a four-day Israeli offensive near the Ali al-Taher hills and Kfar Tebnit. Agencies

PRABOWO REVIEWS RARE EARTH PLANS

President Prabowo Subianto on Wednesday reviewed plans for rare earth minerals and workforce development aimed at supporting strategic industries, officials said. State Secretary Prasetyo Hadi said discussions covered education and training programmes as well as cooperation linked to the rare earth sector. Higher Education Minister Brian Yuliarto, who heads the Mineral Industry Agency, briefed the president on ongoing initiatives. Rare earth elements are used in defence systems and electronics. Prabowo has repeatedly invited foreign investment.

DSI RAIDS ALLEGED FOREX NETWORK

Authorities have raided 24 locations and frozen assets worth more than THB65 million in a crackdown on an alleged Forex investment and money-laundering network linked to prominent figures in politics and entertainment. The Department of Special Investigation launched "Operation Shutdown the Laundering" with support from four agencies. Investigators seized luxury cars, jewellery, bank accounts and digital assets. Officials are due to unveil names on Friday amid speculation involving an opposition lawmaker and a celebrity.

Residents return to ruins as Lebanon awaits peace

TYRE

ADNAN Kaour returned on Thursday to check on his home in southern Lebanon 's coastal city of Tyre — once known as an idyllic summer getaway spot — just a week after Israel issued warnings for all of its residents to evacuate.

The warnings were followed by sweeping airstrikes on the city, which Israel said targeted the Lebanese Hezbollah militant group. What Kaour found back in Tyre, shattered his hopes — his dream family apartment overlooking the shimmering Mediterranean Sea was a heap of rubble and shattered glass. His return coincided with the announcement of an agreement between the United States and Iran to end the war in the West Asia. The deal also calls for an end to the war in Lebanon, where Israel has been fighting Hezbollah, but it's unclear what that means in practice. Israel and Hezbollah are not parties to the agreement.

For residents in the south of crisis-battered Lebanon, hopes of better times are mixed with skepticism —there had been too many ceasefire announcements that had failed to halt the fighting. Kaour lives in Germany, but spends most of the summer in Tyre. Last month, when an Israeli strike hit their street without warning, he was a abroad with his family. When he returned, he saw his building, with a popular sweets shop and an electronics store on the ground floor, was still standing, unlike surrounding structures — buildings that were all leveled to the ground. But the walls and the windows of his apartment had been blasted out. He was relieved his family had not been there, he said. They all survived. AP

Poland arrests suspect in artist's murder

WARSAW: Polish authorities on Thursday arrested a 36-year-old man suspected of killing Russian artist Semyon Skrepetsky, a critic of President Vladimir Putin. Prime Minister Donald Tusk called the shooting a probable "political murder". Officials said Russian involvement was a "very compelling hypothesis", though evidence was lacking. Moscow denied involvement in the murder. Suspect carried a Georgian passport.

U.S. ANNOUNCES TROOP REVIEW, RAPS NATO ALLIES

BRUSSELS

US Defense Secretary Pete Hegseth lashed out at NATO allies on Thursday, announcing a six-month Pentagon review of American forces in Europe whose outcome will depend on how fast the Europeans take responsibility for their own security.

The threat of a review was yet another surprise for European allies and Canada as they learn to deal with an increasingly unpredictable ally. US officials and senior military officers had promised to coordinate closely with the Europeans as America draws down. Just weeks ago, the Trump administration said that it would no longer provide as much military support should any NATO member come under attack, leaving them scrambling to find equipment to plug any gaps.

In recent months, Donald Trump and the Pentagon have sent conflicting signals about whether America is reducing or increasing its military footprint in Europe, as well as threatening to annex Greenland, a semiautonomous island that is part of ally Denmark. "This will be a real review. It will be designed to ensure that NATO is moving fast and irreversibly toward Europe leading, stepping up to take primary responsibility for the defense of Europe," Hegseth told his NATO counterparts. "It's a review that some countries will fail and others will pass with flying colors." In a fiery speech at NATO headquarters in Brussels, Hegseth also lambasted European allies for failing to provide U.S. forces access to bases in Europe to launch attacks on Iran, calling it "shameful."

Pete Hegseth

"These allies, they put America's sons and daughters, our sons and daughters, at risk by denying them the predictable access, basing and overflight that never should have been in question at all," he said. The review would also assess whether the US has full access and overflight "when we need it." Hegseth attacked migration and gender equality policies in Europe, echoing JD Vance's remarks last year.

"Instead of tanks and fighters and air defenses, the focus has been on gender equity and climate change and defense austerity. Europe's borders flew wide open, welfare states expanded, defense budgets cratered, along with Europe's belief in itself and its civilization," Hegseth said. AP

Issue comprises sale of 14.89 cr shares by shareholders who will collectively divest 6% of their stake in company

NSE IPO: Early investors set for multifold gains

ARSHAD KHAN @ New Delhi

THE much-awaited mega IPO from the National Stock Exchange (NSE) is poised to unleash massive wealth for its current shareholders, with institutions, financial titans and market veterans set to pocket windfalls running into thousands of crores.

Since some investors bought NSE shares at a per-share valuation of less than ₹1, they will see massive compounding on their investment, given its shares are now trading at about ₹2,000 each in the unlisted market.

The country's largest stock exchange filed draft papers with market regulator SEBI on Wednesday for a big public offering pegged at roughly ₹30,000 crore. The IPO comprises sale of 14.89 crore shares by existing shareholders who will collectively divest nearly 6% of their stake in the exchange.

Among selling shareholders, State Bank of India (SBI) is expected to emerge as the largest beneficiary. The country's largest lender plans to offload 2.47 crore shares, potentially generating nearly ₹4,950 crore based on current unlisted market prices. SBI's weighted average acquisition cost stands at just 80 paise per share, suggesting the substantial appreciation the NSE has generated over the years.

MS Strategic (Mauritius), a Morgan Stanley fund, will make about ₹2,934 crore, while Singapore's Temasek stands to make ₹2,067 crore via its Aranda Investment arm, and Canada Pension Plan Investment Board will gain ₹1,871 crore. As per Reuters calculation, the top 10 investors offering shares are set for a windfall worth $2.6 billion, based on acquisition prices disclosed in the draft prospectus.

Based on the prevailing unlisted market price of about ₹2,000 per share, billionaire investor and DMart founder Radhakishan Damani's 3.91 crore shares, 1.58% stake in NSE, are valued at a ₹7,817 crore. Hero Enterprise Chairman Sunil Kant Munjal's 1.02 crore shares, or 0.41% stake, are worth about ₹2,040 crore, while Infosys cofounder S Gopalakrishnan's 94.29 lakh shares, representing a 0.38% holding, are valued at nearly ₹1,886 crore. Individual investor Siddharth Balachandran's 0.38% stake is also estimated to be worth about ₹1,863 crore at current unlisted market valuations.

Life Insurance Corporation of India (LIC) holds a 10.7% stake or 26.5 crore shares in the NSE, valuing its stake at ₹50,641 crore. LIC is not offloading its stake in the OFS. Aranda Investments (Mauritius) and Stock Holding Corporation of India are the second and third-largest shareholders, with stakes valued at about ₹21,469 crore and ₹20,999 crore, respectively.

> The relative positioning in valuations compared to BSE can be influenced by the latter's stronger recent growth trajectory, which may moderate over time

Imports of gold decline over 65% after duty hike

PUSHPITA DEY @ New Delhi

INDIA'S gold imports have declined sharply after the government raised customs duty on the precious metal, with monthly inbound shipments falling by more than 65% to 25-30 tonne from 75-100 tonne earlier, a senior government official said. The decline comes even as banks are yet to be reinstated as designated importers of gold.

According to the official, Customs authorities have not re-notified banks as nominated agencies for gold imports since April 1, 2026. As a result, only three nominated agencies, including MMTC, are currently authorised to import the precious metal.

"Imports have come down substantially after the duty hike. Earlier, imports were in the range of 75-100 tonne a month. They are now about 25-30 tonne. But we can capture the quantity on which duty has been paid. It is not just about imports, jewellery demand has also weakened," the official said.

The absence of banks from the list of nominated importers has further tightened the import channel. Traditionally, banks have been among the largest importers of bullion, supplying gold to jewellers and traders across the country.

"As of now, imports through nominated agencies have been minimised. Normally, nominated agencies are re-notified every year. This year, from April 1, banks have not been re-notified. So, at present, only the three nominated agencies are authorised to import gold," the official added.

With only three agencies currently permitted to import gold, the bullion industry is closely watching whether the government will restore banks' designated importer status in the coming months.

The government had raised customs duty on gold and silver from 6% to 15% with effect from May 13, 2026, citing the need to conserve foreign exchange reserves amid heightened global uncertainty triggered by the West Asia crisis.

Industry participants have since reported softer demand, particularly in the retail segment, as higher import duties and elevated global prices have pushed domestic gold prices to record levels.

India is one of the world's largest importers of gold. According to Commerce Ministry data, the country imported 721.05 MT of gold worth $71.98 billion during 2025-26.

3 nominated agencies can import gold

According to the official, Customs authorities have not re-notified banks as nominated agencies for gold imports since April 1, 2026. As a result, only three nominated agencies, including MMTC, are currently authorised to import the precious metal

Industry sees softer demand on high duties

Industry participants have since reported softer demand, particularly in the retail segment, as higher import duties and elevated global prices have pushed domestic gold prices to record levels. India is one of the world's largest importers of gold. It imported 721.05 tonne of gold in 2025-26.

HDFC gets nod to extend Mistry's term as chairman

ENS ECONMIC BUREAU @ New Delhi

THE Reserve Bank of India (RBI) has approved a three-month extension of Keki Mistry's tenure as interim part-time chairman of HDFC Bank, allowing him to continue in the role until September 18, 2026, or until the appointment of a regular part-time chairman, whichever is earlier.

The approval, communicated by the RBI on June 18, comes as the country's largest private sector lender continues its search for a permanent chairman following the abrupt resignation of Atanu Chakraborty in March.

Chakraborty had stepped down as part-time chairman and independent director with immediate effect, citing concerns over certain practices at the bank that, according to him, were not in congruence with his personal values and ethics. In his resignation letter, he referred to "certain happenings and practices" he had observed over the past two years, while clarifying that there were no other material reasons for his decision.

Following his exit, the RBI had approved Mistry's appointment as interim part-time chairman for three months with effect from March 19. With the latest approval, his tenure has now been extended by another three months.

In a regulatory filing on Thursday, HDFC Bank said the RBI had approved the extension pursuant to an application made by the bank.

RIL AGM: Markets await Jio IPO road map

ENS ECONOMIC BUREAU @ New Delhi

RELIANCE Industries' 49th Annual General Meeting (AGM) on Friday is likely to be one of the most closely-watched corporate events, with investors awaiting clarity on the long-awaited initial public offer (IPO) of Reliance Jio, the conglomerate's artificial intelligence (AI) strategy, new energy investments and future capital allocation plans.

Analysts are expecting Reliance to unveil the road map for listing of Reliance Jio, with intense market speculation suggesting the company could file the draft red herring prospectus (DRHP) as early as Friday.

As per market estimates, the proposed IPO could be in the range of ₹33,000 crore-₹40,000 crore, comprising a mix of fresh issue and offer-for-sale (OFS). The listing is expected to value Jio between ₹10 lakh crore and ₹15 lakh crore, making it one of India's biggest public offerings. Early investors Meta Platforms and Google are also expected to participate in the OFS component, while the public float is likely to be limited to 2.5-3% under relaxed minimum public shareholding norms.

Beyond the IPO, investors will closely track Chairman Mukesh Ambani's commentary on RIL's next phase of growth, mainly around AI infrastructure, digital services and the company's ambitious new energy business.

The AGM comes just days after Reliance announced a strategic partnership with Meta Platforms to build a 168 MW hyperscale data centre in Jamnagar, Gujarat. The facility, expected to be completed within two years with an option to scale further, will be Meta's first built-to-suit data centre capacity in India and will support the social media giant's global AI compute and infrastructure needs.

Analysts expect the company to provide updates on monetisation plans across its digital businesses, AI-led services and progress in scaling up its renewable energy ecosystem.

Shareholders will also watch for dividend announcement. RIL has fixed June 5 as the record date for determining shareholders eligible to receive the dividend for FY26. If approved at the AGM, the dividend will be paid within seven days.

Proposed IPO could be in the range of ₹33k-40k cr

As per market estimates, the proposed IPO could be in the range of ₹33,000 crore-₹40,000 crore, comprising a mix of fresh issue and offer-for-sale (OFS). The listing is expected to value Jio between ₹10 lakh crore and ₹15 lakh crore

FOCUS ON CYBERSECURITY BIZ

ACCENTURE LOWERS 2026 REVENUE GROWTH OUTLOOK

PADMINI DHRUVARAJ @ Bengaluru

SOFTWARE and consulting firm Accenture lowered the upper end of its annual revenue growth forecast (2026) and announced acquisitions aimed at expanding its cybersecurity business.

The company expects annual revenue growth of 3% to 4%, compared with its earlier forecast of 3% to 5%. Accenture follows a September-to-August fiscal year. The revised forecast indicates that clients are continuing to delay or scale back spending on discretionary consulting projects amid an uncertain macroeconomic environment.

Though demand for AI and cybersecurity services remains steady, enterprises are becoming more selective in committing large transformation budgets, affecting the wider consulting sector.

The company said it will acquire asset intelligence company runZero and device security specialist NetRise, while taking a majority stake in industrial cybersecurity firm Dragos. The combined deal is valued at $4.18 billion and is expected to close in August or September, subject to regulatory approvals.

The acquisitions are intended to strengthen Accenture's cybersecurity capabilities in industrial operations and critical infrastructure, including power grids, factories, pipelines and data centres, as cyber threats increase and the use of artificial intelligence expands. The three businesses together generate annual recurring revenue of about $208 million. They will add to Accenture's cybersecurity business, which currently generates around $10 billion in annual revenue.

Q3 earnings

Accenture's third-quarter revenue rose 6%, but came in slightly below analyst expectations. The company said operating margin increased by 20 basis points to 17%.

The company said demand for large-scale reinvention projects remained intact, with 104 client bookings worth more than $100 million recorded year-to-date, up 13%.

Bata India appoints Nike's Sanjay Rao as new MD & CEO; shares increase 17%

ENS ECONOMIC BUREAU @ New Delhi

FOOTWEAR major Bata India has appointed Nike veteran Sanjay Rao as its MD and CEO.

The change in leadership at the footwear major comes amid stagnating sales and declining profit in the midst of a turnaround plan involving cutting inventory, streamlining store networks and becoming more appealing to Gen-Z consumers.

Rao succeeds Gunjan Shah, who will conclude his tenure upon completion of his five-year mandate leading the business, Bata India said in a regulatory filing. Following this announcement of Rao's appointment, Bata India shares rallied sharply and closed 17% higher at ₹790.45 apiece.

As per the exchange filing, Rao brings over two decades of retail and consumer leadership experience across India, South Asia, China and Europe. He joins Bata India from global footwear and sports giant Nike, where he recently served as senior director, Nike Retail, overseeing France and Benelux markets. Prior to Nike, Rao spent several years with Inditex, where he played a pivotal role in establishing Zara's business in India through its joint venture with the Tata Group. He subsequently held senior leadership positions across India, South Asia and China. Rao has also served as Country Director for Guess in France and holds an MBA from INSEAD.

Panos Mytaros, CEO of Bata Group, said India is one of Bata Group's key markets and one of their biggest long-term growth opportunities.

L'Oréal acquires majority stake in personal care brand Innovist

ENS ECONOMIC BUREAU @ New Delhi

FRENCH cosmetic giant L'Oréal announced on Thursday that it has signed an agreement to acquire a majority stake in Innovist, a personal care brand in India. This strategic move marks a major step in L'Oréal's expansion in India's fast-growing beauty industry and complements its portfolio with local brands tailored for Indian consumers, the company said in a statement.

While the financial details of the deal are not disclosed, reports suggest the proposed transaction would value Innovist between $350 million and $450 million. The acquisition by L'Oréal comes at a time when niche Indian beauty and personal care brands continue to see growing interest from global heavyweights.

In 2025, Hindustan Unilever acquired 90.5% of Minimalist for ₹2,955 crore while US-based Estee Lauder Companies recently acquired a majority stake in skincare brand Forest Essentials, taking full ownership of the firm.

L'Oréal will start consolidating Innovist sales from the date of closing of transaction. As part of the agreement, it has secured rights to buy out the minority shareholders in full.

The transaction is likely to be completed in next few months after regulatory approvals and customary conditions. Founded in 2019 by Rohit Chawla, Sifat Khurana and Vimal Bhola, Innovist houses brands like Bare Anatomy and Chemist at Play. Under the pact, the Innovist founding team will remain in place, as minority shareholders, and will continue to operate and scale the business in collaboration.

AI adoption outpaces training, companies struggle to keep up

PADMINI DHRUVARAJ @ Bengaluru

AI adoption is moving faster than organisations' ability to train workers and adapt skills to changing job requirements, while expectations around the technology continue to run ahead of its real-world capabilities, according to experts.

A study by Cognizant-Pearson showed 91% of HR professionals reported increased demand for AI training over the past year, only 60% said learning and development programmes could not keep pace with the speed at which AI is changing jobs. In India, the figure stood at 63%. "Many firms are treating AI as a technology project, when the bigger challenge is organisational. The companies that benefit most will be those that redesign workflows and management structures, not simply deploy new tools," said a senior analyst at a domestic broking firm.

Outpacing reality

The findings come as analysts warn that expectations around AI capabilities are running ahead of reality in some areas. "There is a widening gap between the marketing promise of GenAI and its real-world ability to transform and migrate complex legacy code," said Alessandro Galimberti, vice-president analyst at Gartner.

As per Gartner, companies pursuing AI-led technology migration strategies risk introducing technical debt and exposing operations to failures. The research firm has predicted that more than 70% of mainframe exit projects initiated this year will fail to deliver their intended benefits because of an overestimation of generative AI tools. Galimberti said AI could be used more effectively to modernise systems instead of being treated as a solution for large-scale migration projects.

In May even HCLTech had said in a report that 43% of enterprise AI initiatives may fail as leaders face shrinking timelines for impact.

AI PUSH

1. Expectations from AI run ahead of its capabilities
2. Demand for AI training rises over the past year
3. Learning programmes fail to keep pace with AI

Battle for top spot

CO-HOSTS USA WILL BE HOPING TO MAKE THEIR HOME ADVANTAGE COUNT AGAINST AN UPBEAT AUSTRALIA IN SEATTLE. A LOOK...

BALOGUN KEY FOR USA

Striker Folarin Balogun had a dream outing against Paraguay and he'll be hoping to maintain his scoring touch as USA seek a knockout berth. A win will help them take a near-unassailable points tally in the group, sealing their progression to Round of 32 in the process.

OZ LOOK TO UPSET LOCALS

Australia upset Turkiye in the opening tie and they'll be plotting yet another big outing. Nestory Irankunda was a constant threat then (vs Turkiye) and he'll once again be the man in focus. Like the USA, the Socceroos can virtually seal a knockout berth with a win.

ENGLISH HURRIKANE IN US

The 32-year-old skipper ties team's record for World Cup goals and help England overpower Croatia 4-2

SCHUYLER DIXON

ARLINGTON: Hey, Jude, you and Harry didn't let England down. Harry Kane scored twice to equal the English record for World Cup goals, and Jude Bellingham put England in front for good two minutes into the second half of a 4-2 victory over Croatia on Wednesday.

Martin Baturina and Petar Musa answered each of Kane's first-half goals in a rematch of a 2018 semifinal won by Croatia. Musa's goal came on the final play before the whistle ending the first half. The even score didn't last long once play resumed. Bellingham took a long pass from Elliot Anderson and stayed clear of the defender the rest of the way, sending a shot past Dominik Livakovic and in off the far post. Marcus Rashford padded the lead in the 85th minute. "He just told us to let the shackles off," Kane said of coach Thomas Tuchel's halftime message after Croatia pulled even so late before the break. "The way we conceded that second goal is not the team we want to be. He finally just said, 'What's the worst that can happen? We lose the match, first group game, we get on with it.' We move on. Just go and kind of show the world who we can be." Kane, who won the Golden Boot at the 2018 World Cup in Russia by scoring six times, is up to 10 World Cup goals, tying Gary Lineker's mark from the 1986 and 1990 tournaments.

ENGLAND vs CROATIA

The 32-year-old's first goal came on his second chance on a penalty kick after Livakovic's save on the first try was nullified by a video review that showed both his feet off the goal line as Kane was striking the ball. Kane went the same way toward the right post with the second attempt, while Livakovic lunged the other direction, to his right.

The penalty was called when Luka Modric, the 40-year-old midfielder who extended his Croatian record by appearing in his fifth World Cup, kicked Noni Madueke in the thigh. Kane matched Lineker's mark when the Bayern Munich striker easily beat Livakovic with a powerful header off a corner kick from Declan Rice. Kane has 81 international goals. "We could have scored probably three goals in that 20-minute spell coming out (after halftime)," Kane said.

"In the end, we just had too much for a great team that will probably go far in the tournament themselves." AP

Results: England 4 (Kane 12' [P], 42', Bellingham 47', Rashford 85') bt Croatia 2 (Baturina 36', Musa 45+5')

Diaz stars on WC debut years after parents' kidnapping

AGENCIES @ Mexico City

AFTER contributing a goal and an assist in his World Cup debut, Colombia's Luis Diaz walked to the sidelines to look for his father. They spotted each other, fulfilling a dream that was years in the making.

"A lot of things came to me from the past," Diaz said after Colombia beat Uzbekistan 3-1 on Wednesday night. "I worked for this. I fought to be here at this moment." First, Colombia failed to qualify for the 2022 World Cup. Then his parents were kidnapped. In late 2023, Luis Manuel "Mane" Diaz and his wife, Cilenis Marulanda, were captured by armed guerillas at the Colombia-Venezuela border. Marulanda was quickly rescued, but Mane Diaz was not. Luis Diaz, playing for Liverpool at the time, missed two games to return home to Barrancas and advocate for his father's freedom. Upon his return to the club, he scored and revealed an undershirt with the words "Freedom for Papa" printed in Spanish. This week, Diaz's father posted a viral video of himself praying over his son's jersey ahead of his first WC game. Diaz scored the go-ahead goal shortly after Uzbekistan equalized to lift Colombia to its first World Cup victory since 2018 while his father watched from the stands.

Results: Uzbekistan 1 (Fayzullaev 60') lost to Colombia 3 (Munoz 40', Diaz 65', Campaz 90+9'); Ghana 1 (Yirenkyi 90+5') bt Panama 0.

BRAZIL SEEK MAX GAINS

Five-time champs will be looking for some magic in their play when they take on minnows Haiti in a Group C tie on Saturday. Talking points...

PRESSURE ON MANAGER ANCELOTTI

After a tame show in the opener, the pressure will be on Italian tactician Carlo Ancelotti to get Brazil's first win. Expect him to make a few changes. Neymar, who trained briefly on Wednesday, will not travel with the squad. Vinicius Jr once again could be the key man.

HAITI'S BATTLE FOR SURVIVAL

Haiti fans share a special bond with Brazil and the upcoming tie is going to be historic in its own unique way. Haiti put up a spirited show during their 0-1 defeat against Scotland. Expect them to put up another strong fight as they look to avoid early elimination.

SISTER'S MEMORY BIGGEST DRIVING FORCE FOR YAN

SWAROOP SWAMINATHAN

EARLY on Sunday morning (IST), Ivory Coast and Yan Diomande will play their second game of the group stages. For a fair few of them, including Diomande, this would be one of the most important games of their careers.

Irrespective of whatever happens, the highly-rated and heavily-scouted RB Leipzig winger is one of the hottest properties in world football at the moment. Clubs up and down the top European leagues, including Liverpool, are taking an active interest in securing his signature. When he leaves — either before next season or later — he will likely become one of the most expensive African footballers of all time. But the 19-year-old, who was electric against Ecuador in their first game, is fuelled by something more fundamental. The memory of his 15-year-old sister, the person who believed in his dreams the most when he was growing up in Abidjan, the capital city.

A few weeks after Diomande made his debut for Leganes in Spain's La Liga in 2025 — he incidentally made his debut against Real Madrid — he received a phone call that changed his life. In one of the most emotional posts ever on The Players' Tribune, a website for athletes, Diomande wrote about the death of his little sister. "I don't even think I shed a tear the day they told that you were gone," he wrote on Wednesday. "I was just in shock. 'Your sister is gone,' he remembers the message. 'What?' 'She died.' 'What are you talking about?' 'Somebody put something in her drink at a party, and she never woke up. She is gone.'"

His sister, Roxane, was the one who had given wings to his dreams, belief to his prayers. Diomande even remembers a time when Roxane was with him after all European clubs had looked at him but decided against signing him. "Remember when they took me on trial at Bournemouth," the post, addressed to Roxane, asks. "At Chelsea, Rangers, Olympiacos, Crystal Palace? Eze (England player Eberechi Eze) and Olise (French international Michael Olise; both of whom are at the World Cup) even came up to me after one training and said, "'Yo kid, you are really good.' But they still didn't sign me."

When all clubs, including MLS teams in the US, rejected the opportunity, he was ready to give up. "The adults handled everything," he writes. "They just kept taking me all around Europe, and everybody saying no. My visa was up. My dream was over. They sent me back to Africa, and we cried together. You were the one who never stopped believing. A few weeks later, I signed for Leganes and we cried different tears." He quickly established his presence on the wing before scoring his first goal for the club against Espanyol. His pace, trickery and direct dribbling ability combined with his physicality meant other clubs revisited the file marked 'Diomande'. Over the last 12 months, he has grown from strength to strength in the Bundesliga, his capacity to thrill making him stand out in a league dominated by Bayern and their players. Full story: newindianexpress.com

Wahi investigated over match-fixing

TORONTO: Ivory Coast forward Elye Wahi has been authorised to enter Canada for his country's second World Cup match against Germany, after initially being denied a visa over reported spot-fixing allegations, a source close to the player told agencies on Thursday. The Ivorian football federation (FIF) had earlier announced Wahi would miss Saturday's game in Toronto.

Leo's dad recovering from 'health issue'

BUENOS AIRES: Lionel Messi's father is recovering from an unspecified "health issue", the Argentina star's family said on Thursday, appealing for privacy after a flurry of recent media reports. Speculation over the health of 68-year-old Jorge Messi has intensified after Messi broke down in tears post the victory over Algeria on Tuesday. "(Jorge Messi) is currently under medical supervision, recovering and progressing favorably given his condition," Messi's family said.

South Africa keep hopes alive after 1-1 draw

AGENCIES @ Atlanta

TEBOHO Mokoena started the game with tears in his eyes and finished it with a smile on his face after converting a second-half penalty in South Africa's 1-1 draw with the Czechia on Thursday at the World Cup.

SA vs CZECHIA

Thapelo Maseko's long range shot late in the match caught the hand of Pavel Sulc in the area. Mokoena, who was caught on camera with tears rolling down his cheeks during the pre-game national anthem, stepped up to the penalty spot and sent his shot low past Czech Republic goalkeeper Matej Kovar in the 83rd minute.

Michal Sadilek had given the Czechs the lead in the sixth minute at Mercedes-Benz Stadium. Alexandr Sojka played in Sadilek and he slid a shot past goalkeeper Ronwen Williams.

Both teams lost their opening matches, and both knew another setback would seriously hinder their chances of reaching the round of 32. South Africa will next face South Korea on Wednesday. Result: Czechia 1 (Sadilek 6) drew with SA 1 (Mokoena 83-pen).

CWG, Asiad goal as Neeraj returns

INDRANEEL DAS @ Chennai

DAYS before Doha Diamond League, there were speculations whether Neeraj Chopra would be part of the competition on Friday evening. The first teaser did not mention his name but had the latest sensation from Sri Lanka Rumesh Pathirage and a host of others including Anderson Peters of Granada and Keshorn Walcott of Trinidad and Tobago. The javelin throw line-up seemed to be missing a name.

Neeraj has not competed since the World Championships in Tokyo last year and has been nursing injuries since. Training in Olympic Training Centre in Bienne (Switzerland), the Tokyo Olympic champion and double Olympic medallist kept a very low profile in the lead up to his season opener. The 29-year-old javelin thrower changed his coach Jan Zelezny and has gone back to Indian coach Jai Chaudhary, who had seen him compete since his early days. He has decided to train on his own.

However, Neeraj revealed that he had always targeted Doha DL but was not sure until the last moment. He confessed as much during the press conference on Thursday. For Neeraj, the focus would be to remain fit and throw well in the season opener. Neeraj said that the Commonwealth Games will be as tough as the world championships or Olympics because of the field. "The CWG and Asian Games will be there for us. The Commonwealth will not be less than the Olympics or Worlds." Interestingly, the ace javelin thrower has to clear the 2026 CWG qualification mark of 82.61m and Doha could be the place.

Asiad TT squad: Batra dropped

AGENCIES @ New Delhi

INDIA'S most recognisable table tennis star, Manika Batra, was on Thursday dropped from the national squad for this year's Asian Games as she did not meet the selection criteria set by the TTFI. She is part of the reserves. Manika's exclusion is down to her absence from domestic events because of which she does not feature in the Table Tennis Federation of India's (TTFI) rankings. The 20th Asian Games will be held in Aichi-Nagoya, Japan from September 19 to October 4.

SpaceX spending $60 billion to buy Cursor

PADMINI DHRUVARAJ @ Bengaluru

SPACEX has agreed to acquire AI coding startup Cursor in a $60 billion all-stock deal, marking one of the biggest acquisitions involving a venture-backed software company and signalling a wider push into artificial intelligence beyond rockets and satellites.

The deal comes days after SpaceX's stock market debut and will be completed later this year. Cursor, developed by startup Anysphere, provides AI tools that help programmers write and manage software. The company has become one of the fastest-growing software firms, with annualised revenue of about $4 billion in 2026 and more than 50,000 customers.

Cursor was valued at $29.3 billion during its funding round in November. By early 2026, investors were discussing a valuation of around $50 billion as revenue continued to rise. The $60 billion price therefore represents a premium, but one that reflects the speed at which the company has expanded and the growing demand for AI software tools. The acquisition also highlights a shift in the AI race. Rather than relying on outside products such as OpenAI's Codex or Anthropic's Claude-based coding systems, SpaceX is buying ownership of a platform that can be developed internally. Analysts say this gives the company greater control over products, computing resources and future services.

According to Cursor's website, the company aims to help users "engineer anything"

A report by AI Business said the purchase would give SpaceX "a viable rival to Anthropic's Claude Code and OpenAI's Codex systems". Earlier agreements between the two companies included joint work on coding and knowledge-work AI tools.

The transaction gives SpaceX control over a product that already has a large user base instead of building a competing service from scratch. According to Cursor's website, the company aims to help users "engineer anything". One user quoted by the company said, "The most useful AI tool that I currently pay for, hands down, is Cursor. It's fast, autocompletes when and where you need it to, handles brackets properly."

Financially, the deal has been made possible by SpaceX's rising market value following its public listing. The company's stock surge gave it the ability to use shares instead of cash to pursue acquisitions. Investor Bill Ackman said high valuations can become "a superpower" for companies seeking deals.The purchase also reflects the increasing importance of coding assistants in the technology industry. As software companies race to automate programming work, ownership of widely used developer tools is becoming a strategic asset.

For SpaceX, the deal is a bet that the next stage of AI will be shaped by companies that own both the computing infrastructure and the software used by developers.

US restricts access to Anthropic's advanced AI models

THE RESTRICTION ON FABLE 5 AND MYTHOS 5 AFFECTS FOREIGN NATIONALS GLOBALLY, INCLUDING USERS IN INDIA

HOW WILL THE CURBS ON FABLE 5 AND MYTHOS 5 AFFECT INDIA?

RAKESH KUMAR @ New Delhi

A report has sparked debate across the technology world after the US government imposed emergency export controls on Anthropic's most advanced AI models, Fable 5 and Mythos 5. Under the directive, access to the models would be restricted to the US, making them unavailable to foreign nationals and organisations outside the country.

The restrictions were imposed due to national security and cybersecurity concerns related to the advanced capabilities of the Mythos system. Following the directive, Anthropic was forced to disable access to the models for foreign users, businesses and developers worldwide, including those in India. The development has raised several questions about the capabilities of these AI systems and what their restriction could mean for countries such as India.

What are Fable 5 and Mythos 5?

Anthropic recently launched its next-generation "Mythos-class" AI architecture. The company offers the technology in two versions. Claude Fable 5 is the commercial version available to developers and businesses and includes extensive safety guardrails designed to block harmful requests.

Claude Mythos 5, meanwhile, is described as a more unrestricted version with many of the safety filters removed. It is reportedly available only to a small group of vetted researchers and cybersecurity professionals through a programme called Project Glasswing. According to the company, these models represent a major leap in AI capability, with the ability to work autonomously on complex engineering and coding problems for hours without losing focus.

Unlike older AI models that are designed mainly for short conversations and quick responses, the Fable and Mythos series is built for what Anthropic calls Endurance. In simple terms, the models can handle large and complicated tasks for extended periods without drifting off track.

According to the report, payment company Stripe used the technology to completely rewrite a 50-million-line software project in a single day, a task that would normally take a team of engineers several months to complete. Another major feature is memory. The models reportedly have a one-million-token context window, allowing them to read, remember and analyse thousands of pages of documents, financial statements, charts and reports at the same time.

Why did the US impose restrictions?

According to the report, researchers discovered a "jailbreak" technique shortly after launch. The method allegedly allowed users to bypass some of Fable 5's safety protections through carefully crafted prompts.

The report claims the technique enabled the AI model to analyse software code and identify hidden vulnerabilities. Amazon's CEO reportedly brought these findings to the attention of senior officials in the Trump administration. Concerned that foreign governments or state-sponsored hackers could exploit the technology to develop automated cyberattack tools against critical infrastructure, the White House reportedly issued an emergency export-control order citing national security concerns.

Impact on India

The restriction on Fable 5 and Mythos 5 affects foreign nationals globally, including users in India. For India, the impact could be significant, as several IT companies, technology startups and cybersecurity researchers had reportedly integrated Fable 5 into their workflows. The restrictions could disrupt ongoing projects and limit access to advanced AI capabilities.

In addition, because the restrictions reportedly apply to non-US citizens worldwide, some American technology companies operating Global Capability Centres (GCCs) in India may be required to block access to the models for their Indian employees.

The development has also reignited discussions around India's technological self-reliance. Several industry leaders have argued that dependence on foreign AI infrastructure leaves Indian companies vulnerable to geopolitical decisions taken abroad.

WHY Telegram faces more scrutiny than WhatsApp

RAKESH KUMAR @ New Delhi

WITH Telegram facing a temporary restriction in India ahead of the NEET (UG) re-examination scheduled for June 21, 2026, the messaging platform has once again come under scrutiny over its privacy features. The government cited the alleged misuse of Telegram channels and groups that promised students access to the NEET re-examination paper in exchange for money. According to reports, several channels openly advertised purported leaked question papers and charged candidates anywhere from a few thousand rupees to several lakhs.

> AUTHORITIES ARE TARGETING THE PLATFORM INSTEAD OF ADDRESSING ROOT CAUSE OF EXAMINATION MALPRACTICE
> —DHRUV PALVO

Telegram founder and CEO Dhruv Palvo has sharply criticized the government's action, arguing that authorities are targeting the platform instead of addressing the root cause of examination malpractice. He also alleged that Reliance was blocking access to Telegram outside India. According to him, Meta has invested in Reliance and, since Meta owns WhatsApp, the move could be part of a larger competitive battle between messaging platforms.

The controversy raises a broader question: Why has Telegram come under the scanner of governments, and what features does it offer that make it different from rivals such as WhatsApp?

Telegram vs WhatsApp

Both Telegram and WhatsApp are free messaging apps, but they are designed for different kinds of users.

WhatsApp is mainly built for private conversations between friends, family members and small groups. Telegram, on the other hand, combines messaging with social media-like features such as large groups, public channels and cloud storage. One major difference is how messages are stored. WhatsApp uses end-to-end encryption by default for all chats and calls, meaning only the sender and receiver can read the messages. On Telegram, only "Secret Chats" have end-to-end encryption. Regular chats are stored on Telegram's cloud servers. Telegram's cloud-based system allows users to access their chats, photos and documents from multiple devices at the same time without depending on a single phone.

Anonymity: The main attraction

One of the biggest reasons for Telegram's popularity among students, businesses and large online communities is that it offers more anonymity than many other messaging apps

LARGE GROUPS

1 One of Telegram's biggest advantages is the size of its groups. While a WhatsApp group can have up to 1,024 members, a Telegram group can have as many as 2 lakh users. For example, a coaching institute, college alumni association or a large fan club can bring thousands of people together in a single group.

HIDE PHONE NUMBERS

2 On WhatsApp, your phone number is usually visible to people you interact with. Telegram allows users to create a username and chat without sharing their mobile number. For example, a student joining a public exam-preparation group can participate in discussions without revealing personal contact details.

ANONYMOUS MESSAGE FORWARDING

3 Telegram can hide the identity of the original sender when a message is forwarded. For instance, if a user shares a message in one group and someone forwards it to another group, other people may not be able to see who originally sent it.

ANONYMOUS ADMINS

4 Group administrators can choose to hide their identity while managing a group. Instead of showing their personal account name, messages can appear as if they were posted by the group itself. This is useful for people managing very large communities.

EXTRA APP SECURITY

5 Telegram allows users to lock the app with a PIN, fingerprint or face unlock. This means that even if someone gets access to your phone, they may still not be able to open Telegram without the additional security check.

SELF-DESTRUCTING ACCOUNTS

6 Telegram can automatically delete an account if it remains inactive for a long period. For example, if a user does not log in for several months, the account and its stored data can be removed automatically.

LARGE FILE SHARING

7 Telegram is popular because it allows users to send large files, including videos, documents and presentations, directly through the app. For example, a teacher can share a full lecture video or study material with students without using another file-sharing service.

BOTS AND AUTOMATION

8 Telegram supports automated tools called bots. These bots can send news updates, answer questions, conduct polls, provide weather information or help manage large groups. For example, a news channel can use a bot to automatically send breaking news alerts to subscribers

DATA PRIVACY TOPS SMARTPHONE RESALE CONCERNS AMONG INDIANS

Nearly 74% of Indians are worried about the misuse of their personal data after selling or exchanging their smartphones, according to a survey by Cashify. The survey, which covered 8,000 respondents, found that smartphone resale has become common, with 56.6% of people saying they have sold or exchanged a device. However, concerns over data security remain high. About 45.3% of respondents said data privacy and security are the most important factors when choosing where to sell their smartphone, while only 29.5% said price was their top priority. The survey also revealed that although 83.3% of users perform a factory reset before selling their phones, many are not confident that it completely removes personal information. Around 31% said they had successfully recovered deleted data from a smartphone.

PUSH FOR MORE WI-FI SPECTRUM TO IMPROVE CONNECTIVITY

Industry leaders and government officials on Thursday called for greater support for public Wi-Fi networks and further delicensing of the 6 GHz spectrum band to improve broadband connectivity across India. The demand was raised at a conference organised by the Broadband India Forum (BIF) on World Wi-Fi Day 2026. The event focused on the role of next-generation Wi-Fi technologies, including Wi-Fi 6E and Wi-Fi 7, in expanding broadband access and supporting India's digital economy. Senior officials from the Department of Telecommunications (DoT), TRAI, RailTel, the Wi-Fi Alliance and other technology organisations participated in the discussions. Speakers highlighted the need to strengthen public Wi-Fi infrastructure, especially in rural and underserved areas, to bridge the digital divide and improve internet access.

JBL UNVEILS NEW OVER-EAR AND ON-EAR WIRELESS HEADPHONES

JBL on Thursday launched its new Live 780NC over-ear and Live 680NC on-ear wireless headphones in India, featuring adaptive noise cancellation, personalized audio and long battery life. The JBL Live 780NC will be available for pre-booking from June 18 on JBL's official website and Amazon India. The new headphones come with 40mm dynamic drivers, JBL Spatial Sound and True Adaptive Noise Cancelling 2.0, aimed at delivering an immersive listening experience. They also support Personi-Fi 3.0 for customized sound, multipoint connectivity and AI-powered microphones for clearer voice calls. According to the company, the headphones are designed for users who want a mix of performance, comfort and style. The devices feature a foldable design, soft-touch ear cushions and will be available in multiple colour options, including Purple, Blue, Green and Orange.
